Parade to Top Armistice Program

Legion Honors Heroes

Conducts Rites In Central Park

Aerial bombs rocked Mansfield at 11 a. m. today as the city began its 30th Armistice day observance with a tribute to the men who lost their lives in the cause of peace.

Several hundred persons stood in bright sunshine at the Doughboy monument in Central park as the American Legion conducted its annual service in honor of the war dead.

Public offices and schools were closed today for the holiday, but most business places were open.

A parade through the business district tonight will highlight the Armistice program.

Thirty-two American Legionnaires escorted the flag from McVey Post No. 16 on Park avenue west to Central park. Flash bombs were set off as the color guard marched to the monument.

Rev. John G. Gensel, Legion chaplain, delivered a prayer, giving thanks for the victories over the aggressors and asking for an end of strife and the beginning of an enduring peace.

CAUSE CALLED JUST

Joseph Denig, commander of the American Legion, read a short message declaring that the nation's strength in battle was granted because our cause was just.

A firing squad of Legionnaires fired three volleys. Taps was sounded by Legionnaire Howard Neuman. Wreaths were placed on the memorial by Mrs. Emma Young, Legion auxiliary chaplain, in behalf of that group. Another wreath was given by Harry Clever, of Lexington.

Tonight, at 7:30, a five-band parade with marchers representing at least 23 military, veterans' and civic organizations will wind up the Armistice day celebration.

The marchers will assemble at 7:15 p. m. at the five-point intersection of Park avenue west, Bowman street and Sturges and Marion avenues.

The parade will move at 7:30 p. m., led by Parade Marshal Donnell G. Gale, of the American Legion, followed by massed colors.

The parade route follows: East on Park avenue west to the Square, around the Square to

Animals Riot, Navy Answers Ship's SOS

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP — The navy prepared today to send a plane 1,500 miles out over the Pacific ocean to quell a "mutiny" led by eight baby elephants. The navy answered a distress call from the S. S. Swarthmore Victory, a modern Noah's Ark with a cargo of animals for American zoos. The ship reported that the "passengers" were complaining because food supplies were running low.

The floating zoo's passenger list included 17 crates of monkeys, 20 crates of birds, three crates of bears, three crates of ducks, four crates of snakes and a crate of cats. But the baby elephants complained the most over the short rations and were trying to "kick the ship to pieces."

Still Loyal To GOP—But Barely

CINCINNATI,— (INS) — Hamilton count's still Republican after all. The official vote of the November 2 election showed today that Gov. Thomas J. Herbert carried the county by a scant 72 votes. The unofficial tally had given the county—usually the strongest of Republican strongholds—to Gov. Elect Frank J. Lausche, a Democrate, by 348 ballots.

B-29 Sets Record

WILMINGTON—(UP)—A B-29 bomber based here was believed to have set an unofficial B-29 altitude record when it reached a height of 48,462 on a routine mission flight Sept. 20. Clinton county air force base officials reported today.

Christmas Savings $415,000

Approximately 5,450 persons in the Mansfield area will be $415,000 richer Dec. 1. That is the day they will receive checks for the money they have deposited in 1948 Christmas club accounts in four city banks. Bankers said they plan to have checks in the mail in time for their patrons to receive them on that date.

While bankers said that this year's figures do not represent an all-time record, they are a substantial increase both in number of accounts and total savings over last year.

One spokesman for a Mansfield bank said that accounts in his bank are 15 to 20 per cent larger than those of last year.

This week and next most depositors will be making their final weekly payment. Deposits in the Mansfield accounts range from 25 cents to $10. The average check will be for approximately $75.

The $831,000,000 which will be distributed to Christmas club members throughout the nation will be used for numerous purposes, according to officials of the Christmas club, which was founded by H. F. Rawll in New York. The money will be used for permanent savings, to pay insurance premiums, old debts and taxes, and to buy Christmas gifts.

A recent survey by the Christmas club showed that Christmas purchases will take care of the largest percentage of the money received. Some $315,800,000 will be used by Christmas club members to play Santa Claus.

The Christmas club has been in operation for 38 years and this year's total distribution represents an all-time high for the nation.

New York state leads the other states with approximately $230,600,000. Ohio banks will distribute a total of $36,400,000.

Strikes Hit Major Ports

Fear Spread Of Stoppages

NEW YORK —(AP)— A major part of America's shipping was crippled today by Longshoremen's strikes on the east and west coasts.

The port of New York—foremost in the world's commerce—was almost paralyzed as thousands of men stood idle.

The blitz also hit the important harbors of Philadelphia and Boston, where other thousands joined a rank-and-file protest against a wage settlement negotiated by AFL union leaders.

Spread of the walkout to additional ports from Portland, Me., to Hampton Roads, Va., by tonight or tomorrow was feared. A gulf coast stoppage has been promised if the east coast strike becomes official and complete.

A crippling west coast strike of CIO unions has idled ships and men from Alaska to Mexico for many weeks. There was a possibility, however, that the east coast walkout might be short-lived.

Up to 10,000 of New York's 25,000-odd members of the AFL International Longshoremen's association (ILA) were reported to have joined the walkout which began before dawn yesterday.

As 1,000 students and football fans gathered at the huge bonfire at Stadium field last night, the News-Journal cameraman caught the cheerleaders in action (inset, above) and part of the big crowd circling the leaping blaze (at right).

1,000 Cheer At Bonfire

At least 1,000 students and adults whooped, hollered, and cheered around a huge bonfire at Stadium field last night as they took part in phase one of the city's "tank trap" drive to spur the Senior high Tygers to victory over Hamilton, Friday night.

Tonight, the second phase comes off. Students will stage a giant snake dance which is scheduled to start in Central park immediately after the Armistice day parade.

Smaller fires were kindled outside the large circle of milling persons last night to thaw fingers and toes numbed by the freezing weather.

Led by the Tyger cheerleading squad, students and adults cheered themselves hoarse as the 20-foot high pile of boxes and wood burst into flames.

As the flames shot up to twice the height of the burning pile, the students continued to cheer and sing the school fight song.

Climax of the rally came when the cheerleaders dragged out a dummy dressed to represent a Hamilton football player. Around its neck was a sign

UEW Given Setback

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The CIO United Electrical Workers union was left open today to widespread membership raids as result of a National Labor Relations Board decision:

The board's ruling cast doubt on the legality of virtually all of the union's maintenance of membership contracts. Under such contracts, once a worker has joined a union he must maintain his membership for the life of the pact in order to hold his job.

It was the second setback suffered by the CIO affiliate in recent weeks. The U. S. Atomic Energy commission had blacklisted the electrical workers' union because of the alleged communist connections of some of its officers.

The electrical workers have a similar contract for almost all of General Electric's 100,000 employes and more than 100,000 other workers employed by Westinghouse Electric corporation, General Motors, and Radio Corporation of America.

A Minute Isn't Enough!

More Than Silence Needed This Day!

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Why are the bells ringing today?

They say it's a day for all Americans to bow their heads.

But why just a minute of memory?

The Armistice day I remember best was the Nov. 11 in the fifth grade. I remember the teacher stopped arithmetic class about 10:45 that morning. She explained that at 11 o'clock the class would stand and bow their heads.

This was Armistice Day—the day all Americans pause one minute to remember those soldiers who had fought and died in the "war to end all wars."

That was about all the explanation there was. The class had heard about World War I. We had had a smattering of it in history class. Some of us had memorized "Flander's Field."

Then 11 o'clock came. A bell clanged. We all rose and bowed our heads. Over the loud speaker came breathy, brassy bugle taps. It made shivers run up our spines. We found out the bugler was a sixth grade boy who got a bugle for Christmas the year before.

Those "fifth graders" are in their middle 20's today. We've several vacancies in our ranks—those soldiers who fought and died in World War II—the war "to preserve democracy."

One of those empty spaces belongs to the sixth grade boy who played taps on that Christmas bugle that day.

There are other empty spaces, too. These spaces will never be filled because they belong to the never-to-be-born children of those "fifth grade soldiers."

Today, a few score first graders in Mansfield schools will know Armistice Day, along with V-E and V-J day, a lot better than we "fifth graders" ever knew the significance of Nov. 11.

Some of them have only their mothers' explanations and a cold picture to help them remember. The more fortunate ones have their soldier dads back.

Ask those soldier dads of a minute is enough to remember the wars and those who died in them? Ask the mothers who prayed alone every night that their husbands would return.

Then ask yourself, is a minute of prayer—of silence—enough?

There's got to be a lot of prayer and a lot of figuring to keep the Armistice Days and the V-E and V-J days from piling up on the fifth graders in years to come.

Medal of Honor Awarded Ohio Vet

WARREN, —(INS)— The family of Staff Sergt. Gus Kefurt will fly to Washington tomorrow in General Omar Bradley's special plane to witness the presentation of the Congressional Medal of Honor, posthumously awarded to the soldier hero.

Sergt. Kefurt was awarded the medal for the fearless leadership of his platoon against superior enemy forces in the successfull American thrust at Bennwihr, a town in Alsace, France.

Speed Up China War

Million Troops Mass at Front

NANKING—(INS)—The Chinese government claimed an important victory tonight in a giant battle raging along the Suchow front, where communist armies are attempting to break through to Nanking and Shanghai.

An official military spokesman in Nanking declared 30,000 casualties were inflicted on the communists. He said that only 10,000 were suffered by the nationalists in the first 76 hours of the struggle for the heart of China.

He described the scale of the Suchow battle as "unprecedented even during the anti-Japanese war." He said more than 500,000 troops were massed "on either side" along the front 175 miles north of Nanking.

Panic-stricken crowds attempting to fight their way aboard trains leaving Shanghai trampled four persons to death today. Two of the victims were children.

More than 30 trains, each packed with hungry, poverty-stricken Chinese, are leaving Shanghai daily for interior points still not gravely menaced by the advancing communist armies.

Most of the refugees hope to reach some area where sufficient food supplies are available.

Early Risers Will Get To See Comet

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Northeastern Ohioans who are up before sunrise (7:11 a. m.) may be able to see a new comet discovered last Sunday. Dr. J. J. Nassau said that if visible, the comet will be the first observed in the northern hemisphere since Halley's comet in 1910

Takes City Bus, Fares, Departure

NEW YORK—(UP)—An enterprising young man stole a big Eighth avenue bus from a transit garage last night and ran it over its regular route, collecting fares.

Business was fine until the free-lance operator sideswiped a taxicab near 42nd street.

No one was injured, but an ambulance and police radio cars converged on the scene.

The driver surveyed the growing commotion, climbed from his seat and strolled off into a subway station.

That was the last seen of him.

Parents Join Comic Book Drive

OSR Superintendent Backs Campaign

The fight against objectionable comic books gained momentum today as several parents indicated they would visit stores to ask dealers not to handle objectionable comic books.

Robert Y. Davis, Johnny Appleseed Junior high teacher, urged formation of "vigilante" groups by parents to curb the circulation of undesirable comic books among children. Davis proposed the campaign Tuesday night in a talk before the Rebecca Grubaugh P-TA.

Meanwhile, Arthur L. Glattke, superintendent of the Mansfield Reformatory, asserted that comic books are not permitted in the institution.

Glattke said only a few books could pass the censorship and consequently all comic books have been barred from the reformatory.

Publications for reformatory inmates, Glattke said, must pass the censorship of the chaplain who checks books and magazines.

"I heartily approve of a strict censorship on comics," Glattke said.

Regarding the formation of parent groups to ask dealers not to handle objectionable comic books, Glattke said that would be "one of the greatest steps this community could take toward the prevention of delinquency."

OFFERS HELP

Jesse Clark, principal of the Rebecca Grubaugh school, said four parents called him yesterday and one told him in person that they were going to ask their dealers not to handle objectionable comic books.

No action was taken at Tuesday's meeting by the group. However, Clark said yesterday he believed it possible some action would be taken at the next meeting, the second week in December.

Mrs. E. C. Pankow, president of the Mansfield Parent - Teacher council, said that if enough P-TA groups in the city want action, the council will move to curb circulation of objectionable comic books.

She pointed out that the council is a representative body and must act according to the wishes of the various groups. The council will meet next Tuesday.

FOLLOW LOCAL P-TA'S

Mrs. Pankow pointed out that the national and state P-TA's have gone on record to do something about objectionable comics.

The national group has initiated action for working out specific steps to "eliminate vicious comic books and objectionable radio and movie programs," it was announced today in Chicago.

Workers Request Election

Widen Split With CIO Group

Ideal Electric company employes today asked the National Labor Relations board to hold an election to determine whether an AFL or a CIO union shall represent the plant's 278 workers for the purposes of collective bargaining.

The announcement was made by Roy E. Burns, acting spokesman for the Ideal Electric company workers who last week split with the United Electrical Workers (CIO), Local 758, on the issue of communists holding union office.

Burns, who last week was ousted as chief steward at the plant by an undetermined number of Ideal employes loyal to the UE, stated that 72 per cent of the plant's workers have signed cards stating their intention to disaffiliate with UE Local 758 and to join the AFL's International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

"There is no question that we have a majority of the workers of the plant pledged to join the IBEW and it looks like we may be able to sign up an even larger group than the 72 per cent majority we have at present," Burns said.

He added that a Cincinnati representative of the IBEW is making application to the NLRB in the name of the Ideal employes, requesting the board to conduct the election to name the plant's collective bargaining representative.

HEARING REQUIRED

Under the Taft-Hartley law, the NLRB will investigate the petition requesting the election" . . . and shall provide for an appropriate hearing upon due notice."

If the board finds on the record of the hearing that a question of representation exists "it shall direct an election by secret ballot. . . ."

The movement among Ideal Electric company shop employes to leave the UE moved into high gear last week. It came to a head at a meeting of Local 758 when Ideal employes tried to bring the question of barring communists from holding office in the union and requiring them to sign non-communist affidavits, to the floor.

One of the spokesmen for the group, Tom Harrington, said those proposals were to be offered as constitutional amendments, but whenever a proponent of the measure took the floor, he was shouted down with boos and catcalls.

BANS COMMUNISTS

The action proposed by the Ideal employes was even stronger than that taken by Local 711, UE of the Westinghouse plant. That group recently voted to ban communists from holding office, but did not discuss the question of signing non-communist affidavits.

UE workers recently have been banned from government atomic bomb projects because the UE International officers have refused to sign the non-communist affidavits.

The action of the Ideal employes represents a total break with the Local 758 and International UE officials.

Local 758 also represents the Hughes-Keenan company, the Martin Steel Products company, the Humphryes Manufacturing company and the Ohio Brass company.

Harrington pointed out that the Ideal employes' action was not the result of Local 711's action, but was motivated by the same desire to rid the union of "communists and other subversive elements."

2,000 Rioters Break Up Talk

PARIS—(INS)—Two thousand communist-led rioters broke up an Armistice Day celebration on the Champs Elysees in the center of Paris today.

The demonstration took place during the course of a speech by Interior Minister Jules Moch, who has been assailed by communists for his firm handling of recent French coal strikes.

The rioters grappled with police who had barred their access to the broad venue. Several persons were injured and a number arrested.

30 Years Ago Today: Mud In France, Hilarity In Central Park

By NITA BRANSON

Thirty years ago today there was mud in the fields near Metz where Mansfield men were fighting and there was near-delirium in Central park as the fighting ended.

Two Mansfielders, good friends, recall both events vividly. They are Charles H. Huston, then Major Huston, serving in France, and E. W. Dann, who was in Mansfield on the memorable day.

Huston says: "On the night before the Armistice, I was in command of the horse section of the 112th Ammunition Train. It was our job to deliver ammunition to the men at the front. About 10 p. m. the night of the 10th, an order came for 18 trucks of ammunition to be sent to the front. During the night—it was a cold, misty night—the trucks had a lot of trouble getting through. The Germans had been driven back toward Metz and the mud was terrific. Only two trucks got through. The others had mired along the way or their drivers were gassed.

"The fighting that night was the most intense I had ever remembered in our six weeks near the front. Our company of 1,400 was billeted in the little town of Ambly, between St. Mihiel and Verdun.

"The din went on all through the night. Then suddenly, where there had been this terrific noise, there was a tremendous silence. I remember the contrast.

"We had learned about the Armistice from a sergeant who came out of his telephone booth on the hillside about 9 a. m. By 10 a. m. the silence was complete.

"I remember that we all went back to Ambly. There was no hilarity, no celebration, but we began asking ourselves either, 'Now what was the whole thing about anyway?' or 'When do we get back home?'

"By 4:30 that afternoon there was not a man in sight. Everyone had gone to his bunk for some badly needed rest. Two trucks containing a band came through Ambly and I went out to watch. They played a little and went on but there was no more celebration than that.

"But the French were wild with joy. They did the celebrating, not our men."

Under Huston's command were 80 Mansfield boys, all members of the 37th division, which fought its way the second time to fame and glory in World War II.

"We learned a few days later," Huston added, "from a colonel in an artillery regiment, that the men at the batteries attempted to fire all the ammunition they had before the armistice was signed. That accounted to a great extent for the tremendous din. We had, of course, all known that the Allies and the Germans were meeting to talk over an armistice."

There was no mud back in Central park on the day of Nov. 11, 1918, and no one went to bed, according to Dann. Silence was conspicuous by its absence.

"I remember that Rev. and Mrs. O. S. Kiplinger and Mrs. Dann

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, November 12

THERE are signs of a hazardous and perplexing state of affairs, which are more than likely not to measure up to expectations. While on the surface there may be seen indication of progress and gratification yet an undercurrent of the irregular, curious intriguing may complicate matters, both in business and in private relations. The latter may beget problems in the romantic, affectional, social or domestic affiliations. Shun subtle or sinister entanglements, erratic urges. Safeguard funds, property, labor and position when sudden and devastating circumstances may disrupt current affairs.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may prepare for a year in which unconventional and dramatic upsets may incite to erratic or emotional outbursts. Finances are subject to loss or strange hazards, through gambling, show, extravagance or over-indulgence in some form. With these flagrant urges there may be subtle undercurrents, complicating and intriguing, in which intimate relations may have queer twists or adventures. Hew to the line of the conventional and the fair.

A child born on this day may be prone to do the unusual or eccentric leaning toward the irregular and crafty.

PARTY FARE FOR TEEN-AGERS

Crisp Delicious apples, with a caramel nut frosting. Simply melt caramel candies in top of the double-boiler, insert wooden sticks in stem end of apples and dip into hot syrup, twisting to spread syrup evenly. Roll in choped nuts or cocoanut.

A gift of your own making is a gracious one, and bound to be appreciated by the recipient. Especially pleasing are gifts from your own kitchen, and conserves—nice to have on hand for company dinners—are always welcome. Pack two jars to a basket that can be used later for bread and rolls, or to hold odds and ends. A jar of homemade conserve accompanied by a pretty little jam jar makes an attractive present.

Conserves are cooked like preserves, with raisins and nuts added. Here are two you can make right now for the holidays.

Citrus Conserve

1 grapefruit
2 oranges
1 lemon, juice
6 cups sugar
6 cups cold water
1 cup chopped pecans

Remove seeds from grapefruit and oranges. Put through food chopper, using fine knife. Add lemon juice, sugar and water, and let stand overnight. Cook in heavy kettle. Bring to a boil, simmer until very thick, stirring often to prevent sticking. Remove from heat; stir in walnuts. Pour into hot, sterilized glasses. Paraffin at once. Cool and cover.

Cranberry Conserve

1 quart (4 cups) cranberries
Water
Sugar
3 oranges, grated rind and pulp.
1 cup seeded raisins.
1 cup broken walnut meats.

Cook cranberries in just enough water to float them, until skins are all broken and cranberries reduced to a mush. Measure. Add an equal amount of sugar. Add grated orange rind, orange pulp and raisins. Simmer until very thick, stirring often to prevent sticking. Remove from heat; stir in walnuts. Pour into hot, sterilized glasses. Paraffin at once. Cool and cover.

Garnish a bowl of fluffy rice with tiny squares of canned pimiento and fresh green peppers; serve with fried chicken.

APPLE RAISIN STUFFING

Apple-raisin stuffing is especially good with duck, says Better Homes and Gardens magazine. The ingredients include one cup of diced celery, one-fourth cup of fat, one cup of dry bread crumbs, one and a half teaspoons of salt, one-half teaspoon of ginger, one half teaspoon of poultry seasoning. You also need three to four tablespoons of lemon juice, one and a half teaspoons of grated lemon peel, one cup of raisins, four cups of cooked rice and four cups of coarsely grated apple. Cook the celery in the fat until soft but not brown. Blend with all the remaining ingredients. Add additional seasoning if desired.

First Aid For Pipes and Drains

Here are some first-aid precautions to take when a calamity overtakes your house in the form of a frozen pipe or a stopped-up drain. When you wake up on a winter's morn to find the pipes frozen, don't get frantic. Calamity comes only when the pipes thaw too quickly. To forestall this, fill a bucket with hot water, soak some heavy towels in it, wring them out and wrap them around the pipe.

In this way you get a gentle thawing action which melts the close-packed ice without working up a sudden expansion, which causes the pipes to burst. Frequently a stopped up drain can be fixed by filling a bowl full of very hot water, letting it stand and then go to work on the drain with a rubber plunger. If your basin has a pop-up waist plug that might be the cause of the trouble. Take hold of the plug end, twist it round and pull it right out of the waste pipe. Give it a thorough cleaning and slip it back into the drain pipe.

Spain Prepares for Nov. 21 Election

Controlled Vote Seen For Spanish

Press, Speech Freedom Denied

MADRID—(AP)—The first municipal elections since the civil war will put into effect the Franco regime's governmental system for the nation's 9,223 villages, towns and cities.

This governmental structure, which fundamentally is a copy of the systems of the monarchy and republic, was set up in a decree issued July 18, 1945. The same decree provided for the direct and indirect elections of municipal council members now called by the government for Nov. 21, 28, and Dec. 5.

Approximately 6,000,000 "heads of families" will be eligible to ballot Nov. 21, to name one-third of the council members. On Nov. 28, the government-controlled syndicates (labor-employer organizations) will name another third of the councilmen. On Dec. 5, the previously chosen two thirds of the council members will meet to name the final third from candidates submitted by the provincial civil governors.

CONTROLLED VOTE

Under the decree law, villages with 500 inhabitants or less have a council of three members. The number of councilmen in other towns and cities vary with the size of the population up to 24 members for cities of more than 500,000.

The central government has set aside 12,000,000 pesetos (about $1,100,000) for election expenses. But as in the 1947 national referendum on Franco's law of succession, the voting will be without freedom of political organization, speech or press.

The approximately six million "heads of families" who will be eligible to vote Nov. 21, compared with 15,219,563 voters in the 1947 referendum when universal suffrage was extended.

Voting is compulsory and only persons over 70 years of age, the infirm, clerics, judges, and notaries, are exempt. Anyone who has lost his civil rights by conviction of a criminal or political offense is barred.

Army Grid Infantry Tops College Warfare

Cadets Rip 377.1 Yards Per Contest

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK — (AP) — Wars, they say, are won by the infantry. Army must figure the same is true of football games.

The power-minded Cadets, who have never yielded to the modern pass-happy trend, are grinding toward a new all-time collegiate record for advancing the ball by land.

In seven games they have rolled up a staggering total of 2,640 rushing yards—an average of 377.1 yards a game.

If this keeps up, the national collegiate athletic bureau reminds us, the Black Knights of the Hudson are bound to wreck their own existing mark of 359.8 yards a game set in 1945 when Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis were stomping all opposition.

TD CAUNTERPART

Blanchard and Davis have a touchdown tandem counterpart on the present Army team in Gil Stephenson and Bobby Stuart, who are almost a cinch to shatter the ball-carrying records of the wartime duo.

Led by Stephenson and Stuart, unblemished Army smashed 525 yards over the ground last Saturday in beating Stanford, 43-0. It was the season's greatest display of power.

Should they win rushing offense honors this year it will mark the third time in five years the Cadets have turned the trick. They were best on the ground also in 1944 and 1945.

Notre Dame is the only other team to take rushing honors more than once. The Irish were the nation's top powerhouse in 1943 and 1946. They are now in third place behind Army and Texas Mines, in rushing.

GET REAL TEST

The Cadets get a real test Saturday when they clash with Pennsylvania, the third best defensive team in the country.

Nevada, although upset last week by Santa Clara, kept its long lead in two offensive departments—total offense and passing.

The Westerners have an overall total of 3,436 yards, an average of 490.9 yards a game. Army is second with a 456.4 average, followed by Notre Dame, which leaped from sixth place to third with 406.7.

The Irish offense also gets a chance to prove its mettle Saturday. The foe is Northwestern, an outstanding defensive bulwark.

Nevada, paced by rifle-armed Stan Heath, has a 284.9-yard average in passing, followed by Tulsa with 173 and Georgia Tech with 168.4.

Cleveland Barons Drop to Cellar

(By International News Service)

The Cleveland Barons, defending American hockey league champions, found themselves in a strange position today—last place in the Western division.

A last period goal by Pete Leswick, ace right winger, enabled the cookmen to deadlock Pittsburgh, 3-3, last night on Hornet Ice. They now trail the fourth place Buffalo Bisons by a half-game.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.—Nicky Mistovich, 148, Youngstown, outpointed Buddy Holderfield, 148, Little Rock, 8.

AKRON, O.—Phil Muscato, 188, Buffalo, knocked out Shamus O'Brien, 184, New York, 8.

NEW CAPTAIN — Alan Poorman, senior, yesterday was elected captain of the 1948 Mansfield Senior high school cross country team. Members of the harrier team voted for the new captain. The Tygers lost only once during the regular season.

Brooklyn Says Loop's Amiss

NEW YORK —(INS)— The all-American football conference has been accused by the Brooklyn Dodgers of failure to carry out a program of assistance to the "weak sister" clubs in the league.

Dodger coach Carl Voyles explained that after the 1947 season the AAC agreed to refurbish the three weak teams—Chicago, Baltimore and Brooklyn—with seasoned personnel. According to Voyles, Baltimore and Chicago got their players, but not the Dodgers.

Voyles said the Dodgers were promised a good defensive halfback, a linebacker and another regular.

Voyles said that the Dodger organization would demand its full share of available talent at the league meetings scheduled for next month.

Here's Some Comments On Rose Bowl Pact

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO—(U.P.)—Despite shellackings in their first two football engagements, Pacific Coast conference officials are in favor of continuing the Rose Bowl tie-up with the Big Nine.

But they do want to change the contract so that they won't play host to a second-place team.

"I'm in favor of continuing the Big Nine pact—with modifications," Al Masters, athletic director of Stanford university, said. "It's a good set-up, but I don't like the idea of the Big Nine sending a second-place team. However, in the long run I think it will work out O. K. The situation probably will be discussed at the winter meeting of the Pacific Coast conference."

That was the general trend of the comments from the schools taking part in the poll. Some of the replies were terse "no comment" — but even at these schools it was known that the tie-up continuance still is favored.

WANTS NO CHANGES

Prof. Hugh C. Willett, University of Southern California faculty representative in the PCC, wants no changes at all right now.

"The agreement is a five-year contract and has been in operation only two years. Certainly I have no desire at this time to make any changes in it," Willett said. "What further agreement may be entered into after the present one expires, I am not prepared to say."

There is no provision in the present pact that would allow for interim changes or modifications before the five-year pact expires —but that isn't making everyone happy.

"I don't like the idea of playing a second-place team in the Rose Bowl," says Brutus Hamilton of the University of California. "But I think most of the present criticism is premature. Overall, the contract will work out well. It is very seldom that the Big Nine has an undefeated team."

George Green of the university of Idaho said, "the agreement probably was all right at the time it was made. But I feel the situation has changed so that the situation should be reviewed. I don't like the prospect of a PCC champion playing the second best team in the Big Nine. Also, I don't feel any team should be barred from entry into the Rose Bowl because of its conference or sectional affiliation." Technically, no team is barred since the Big Nine need not designate a conference member as its representative after this year."

AGREEMENT FINE

J. H. Bohler of Washington State said, "the agreement is fine. We must take the attitude that the Rose Bowl game is not necessarily a contest between the two best teams in the two conferences and is not a playoff for any sort of championship. It is merely a game between two representatives of the two conferences."

Art Lichtman, University of Oregon, said, "anybody who hasn't been in the Rose Bowl as long as Oregon hasn't got a kick coming on any agreement." He jokingly ignored the fact that Oregon this year is a championship contender after a lengthy famine.

Wolbur Johns, UCLA, and Harvey Cassill of University of Washington, replied with a "no comment."

Battle In Toledo

TOLEDO —(INS)— Tommy Bell of Youngstown and Cecil Hudson of San Jose, Cal., will tangle in a 10-round bout in Toledo next Tuesday.

By ED SAINSBURY

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—The Big Nine probably will vote to renew its pact with the Pacific Coast conference to send a team to the Rose Bowl every year despite several objections to terms of the agreement.

Only one member of the conference, Minnesota, was definitely against renewal of the present agreement, but some other officials said they were opposed to New Year's day games on principle.

"Minnesota was against it the first time," Athletic Director Frank McCormick said, "and we'll be against it the next time."

The present Rose Bowl five-year contract expires after the Jan. 1, 1951, game, and the fact that two full seasons remain before expiration caused several spokesmen to hesitate to express an opinion on the agreement.

HAS NO FEELING

"I don't have any particular feeling about it right now," Michigan's athletic director, Fritz Crisler, said.

Doug Mills, athletic director at Illinois, took a similar position. "I'm open-minded on it at present," he said.

Commissioner Kenneth L. "Tug" Wilson said he "hasn't thought much about renewal."

It's been a very pleasant and satisfactory relationship so far," he added.

Ted Payseur, Northwestern athletic director, said he believed any expression concerning the pact should come from conference action.

Four schools were definitely in favor of the contract.

"The agreement is a fine arrangement as it is now," Athletic Director Pooch Harrell of Indiana said. Guy Mackey of Purdue said that it "suits me fine." Athletic Director Paul Brechler of Iowa and athletic director and football Coach Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin agreed.

NOT IN FAVOR

Dick Larkins, Ohio State, who made it clear that he was speaking personally and not as a spokesman of the university, said that "personally I don't believe in any post-season football games. I have no particular antipathy toward the Rose Bowl, but I think that when the season is over we should devote our time to other sports."

The original pact provided that no Big Nine team could make the trip more than once in three years, and because Michigan won in 1947 and played in the Bowl, it is automatically out of contention this year.

Two Men Return

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—(UP)—Illinois hopes for a homecoming victory over Ohio State were bolstered today when it was announced that end Jim Valek and tackle Lyle Button would be ready to start in Saturday's game. Both had been out with ankle injuries.

Indians To Offer O'Neill Right Job If It Shows Up

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Write this down in your winter book: The Cleveland Indians will offer Steve O'Neill a job if the right one turns up.

That was the word today from the Tribe's front office on the future of the recently deposed manager of the Detroit Tigers. Whether he would take it is something else again.

A good source said the Indians have been considering a working agreement with several Pacific Coast league clubs — San Diego, Hollywood and Sacramento. If one of those materializes, he said, O'Neill will be offered the managership.

Ordinarily, veterans like O'Neill prefer to stay in the majors, say as a coach. O'Neill managed the Indians in 1936 and 1937.

Helmet Does It

Perennial Tops Used As Compost

Final Cleaning Of Year Nears

WOOSTER—After several heavy freezes have killed the tops of plants in the garden, it is time for the final cleaning of the year.

D. C. Kiplinger, of the Horticulture Department of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station, states that annuals that may have been interplanted between perennials should be pulled out of the ground, leaving a bare space for next year's plantings.

Tops of perennials should be cut back to the ground level with a pruning shears or sharp knife. Pulling off the tops by hand, Kiplinger warns, may injure the crown so that it will rot over winter. Many gardeners use this plant refuse for composting and this is usually quite satisfactory.

Tops of perennials which have become diseased, however, should be burned rather than composted, the horticulturist advises, as there is a possibility of carrying the disease over the winter to infect the plants next year.

Any plants that need mulching can be attended to after the area is cleaned of refuse. A thorough cleaning also makes the garden less of an eye-sore throughout the winter months.

See Rioting In Walkout

FRANKFURT — (UP) — Four and one half million union members in the British and American zones of Germany will stage a 24-hour work stoppage tomorrow to press their demands for lower pices.

Workers on the Berlin airlift, employes of hospitals, public utilities and police will not join the walkout.

But communists have proposed to support it with "violent riots" if union demands are not met. Karl Rischke, communist delegate to the Bizonal economic council, said the Oct. 28 riot in Stuttgart, in which several were injured, was "just the beginning of a wave of demonstrations."

Despite the communist threat, union leaders promised there would be no violence. They said members had been instructed to conduct the walkout quietly to avoid the British and American military governments use of force to end the strike.

A new Mansfield business establishment, the M. and F. House of Plastics, 77 North Walnut street, opened this morning.

The store has salesroom 90 feet deep and 14 feet wide. Walls and ceiling are painted a cream color. In addition to counter displays, goods are shown on glass shelves lining the wall. Lighting is fluorescent.

The new concern is owned and operated by Mrs. Mary C. Stutz, 454 West Dickson avenue, and Frederck J. Cook, of Toledo.

All kinds of plastic products are sold including a varied selection of novelties, toys, gifts and household goods.

U. S. Veterans Charge Army CID Men With Beating Them

FRANKFURT—(UP)—Two U. S. army veterans have testified here that they were beaten by agents of the army's criminal investigation division, one of them a former Nazi SS lieutenant.

James Mobley of Georgia—he refused to reveal the town—and A. J. Newhart of Maraillo, Tex., said they were taken one at a time to a cell-like room in the cellar of a secluded country mansion at Bad Nauheim known as "gestapo headquarters."

There, they told a military justice board, they were beaten for not having given "satisfactory" answers to CID interrogators.

They said one of the pistol-packing plainclothesmen who slugged them was Hans Von Euen, a former German baron. He testified Monday that he was a lieutenant in the SS before 1934 and fled to the United States because he was involved with persons liquidated by Hitler in the 1934 purge.

Euen said he worked for a time with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, giving it details of the gestapo structure and organization. He became an American citizen and entered the army two or three years ago.

Mobley and Newhart are under investigation with eight other employes of the army's European exchange service in connection with illegal black market sales of carload lots of American cigarettes.

It is believed that some formal procedure such as a foll dress international conference will have to be held before a form of treaty or other international pact can be sumitted to Congress.

However, informed officials pointed out that the United States has sought diligently to hasten an agreemen ever since passage of the Vandenberg resolution at the last session of Congress.

Wheat Sowing Nearly Done

Winter wheat sowing in Richland county is nearly complete, despite an extremely damp season, County Agent C. N McGrew announced today.

While some farmers have waited for soil conditions to dry most of them have finished their sowing, and the wheat is doing well, he said. The sowing season is running out rapidly with little time left for those who have waited for more favorable weather.

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration office estimated the total wheat acreage this year would be about the same as last year. About 30,000 acres of Richland couty land were planted to wheat in 1947.

Clay Answers Russian Threat, Says 'Keep'em Flying'

Reds Claim Violations Of Airlift

Planes Face 'Force-Downs'

BERLIN— —(AP) — American and British planes flew the supply route to Berlin today in the face of a Russian threat to force down planes straying from the 20-mile wide air corridors to the former German capial.

The American answer to the Russians' threat, made last night, was a terse promise from Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor, that "we will keep them flying."

Both British and U. S. authorities said publicly the Russians would be held responsible for any action they take.

The Russians, citing a long list of alleged violations of their territory, also said they would force down "all aircraft without identification marks of nationality" flying over the Soviet zone, including the three air corridors.

The second threat presumably refers to non-military planes, which do not carry nationality markers. The Russians have complained of commercial flights in the Berlin air corridors.

Some official sources tended to discount the Soviet not as another move in the "war of nerves."

Although both Britian and the U. S. have said in the past they would use fighter escorts if necessary to keep the airlift going, American pilots said they had standing orders to obey any Soviet fighter plane seeking to force them to land.

Another group of allied officials took a more serious view of the Russian threat. They pointed out previous threats of action against the airlift had been threatened in the Soviet press but the Russians had not heretofore committed themselves in official notes.

The new Soviet move was disclosed when Brig. Gen. C. K. Gailey, Clay's chief of staff, replied to a letter from Gen. G. S. Lukjantschenko, Russian chief of staff.

Gailey noted the Soviet threat to force planes "to land on the nearest airfield in the Soviet zone" and said:

"You are informed that full and complete responsibility will rest on the shoulders of Soviet authorities should any injury be sustaind by any of our personnel or any damage occur to our planes as a result of Soviet action taken in this connection."

which read, "Hamilton, National Champs? We'll See." After parading the dummy around the circle, cheerleaders placed it in a wooden "coffin." Mansfield football players lifter the coffin high and threw it on the burning fire.

As the box and dummy burned, the students cheered "Mansfield beat Hamilton."

As sky rockets were set off, another Hamilton effigy was brought forth. This one was labeled "Jim Bailey." Bailey is high scorer on the Hamilton team with 17 touchdowns to his credit. "Bailey" joined his teammate on the funeral pyre.

Spontaneous snake dances were started, but were shortlived as the fire burned down and the cold weather sent students looking for warmer places to continue their celebration.

The crack Senior high Marching Tygers band will join tonight's pep program. Immediately after the parade, the band will play several numbers in Central park as the snake dancing students congregate. The cheerleaders will then take over for several rounds of yells with the giant snake dance following.

Concluding the week's "tank trap" enthusiasm drive will be the Homecoming game with Hamilton tomorrow at Arlin field. J. Gilbert Baird, chairman of the half-time shows for the Tyger booster club, has promised the "most spectacular show of the season." The theme will be coronation of the queen.

Dr. D. A. Weir, Tyger club pep chairman, has asked fans to bring whistles, bells and other noise makers to tomorrow's game. Says Doctor Weir, I would like to have more noise than ever heard before at a Mansfield football game."

New Landing Field Will Aid Airlift

Announce Base In British Zone

BERLIN—(U.P.)—A new air base for American C-54 transport planes will be opened at Celle in the British zone Dec. 15, greatly reducing the airlift carry distance to Berlin, British Secretay of State for Air Arthur Henderson has announced.

"The opening of the new base will provide a much shorter run for American aircraft," Henderson said. "Moving all United States air bases to the British zone is a possible and relevant factor in the increasing airlift."

At present the American airlift planes are flying to Berlin from Frankfurt and Wiesbaden some 250 miles away. Celle is about 140 miles due west of the former German capital.

At Wiebaden, Lt. Gen. John Cannon, American air commander, and Maj. Gen. William Tunner, commander of the combined Anglo-American airlife, said more and more American planes would be based in the zone as the airlift continued.

"Experience has indicated," he said, "that it is advisable to maintain operations from the United States and United Kingdom zones so that airlift operations may continue when bases in one zone or the other are closed by the weather."

Henderson, who has just completed a five-day tour of airlift bases in the British zone, said the Royal Air Force "will continue its maximum efforts to maintain the airlift throughout the winter and for as long after as may be necessary."

The secretary said that British planes had flown over 10,000,000 miles with 136,000 tons of food and coal for Berlin since the airlift started.

"The problem of bad weather flying has been mastered and with the aid of radar aircraft can arrive in fog almost as rapidly as in fair weather," Henderson said.

Police Chief Plays Santa, Juvenile Crimes Decrease

AYER, Mass.—(AP)—Police Chief Ernest L. Downing plans to throw a Christmas party for 10,000 children.

Downing said today the party, for youngsters from many eastern Massachusetts cities and towns, will be held Dec. 12 at Athletic Field.

Last Christmastime, 4,000 kiddies attended Chief Downing's party, but this year he expects 6,000 more.

Police and firemen from 16 towns are aiding in scheduling the day's program. Already listed is a military air show by air forces planes from Bedford air base.

Naturally, Chief Downing will act as Santa Claus. Instead of arriving by sleigh, he will land in a helicopter. He'll present a gift to every child.

Chief Downing first decided on a Christmas party a year ago as part of a program to combat juvenile delinquency. He ran several events for children during the summer.

Today he reported that only 29 juvenile cases have been heard in Ayer district court, which also covers several neighboring towns. He said the number was a sharp drop from other years.

Bad Floors Mar Arias

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The sagging floors of the White House are interfering with Margaret Truman's singing career.

Mrs. India Edwards, head of the women's division of the Democratic national committee, said that when the President's daughter walked into her room recently she found her piano leaning to one side.

A hasty examination disclosed that one leg had gone through the floor

Architects have warned that the 150-year-old building is standing "only by force of habit." The formal White House social season has been cancelled so that extensive repairs can be made this winter.

Mrs. Pfeiffer Dies In City

Mrs. Carrie Pfeiffer, 74, of LaGrange, died this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Miller Jones, 334½ South Main street, after a lingering illness.

Mrs. Pfeiffer had been visiting her daughter for the past year.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Stanley Rocher of Elyria; two sons, Rudolph of LaGrange and Clayton of Sullivan, and five grandchildren.

The body has been taken to the Fulton funeral home in Grafton and later will be taken to the family home on the Elyria-LaGrange road where friends may call.

Rev. Walter Young will conduct funeral services at the Baptist church in LaGrange at 2 p m. Saturday. Burial will be in the LaGrange cemetery.

Armistice: 30 Years Ago

and I walked down to the park. Everybody was going crazy. Everybody grabbed everybody else, it didn't matter who, and danced around in a crazy way.

"Most people stayed up all night celebrating but I think we went back home about 2 o'clock. It was a momentous occasion and the pent-up feelings of everyone just gave way.

"We thought there would never be another war. That's one thing that made everyone so hilarious."

When told that Huston had talked about Armistice day in France, Dann recalled, "Oh, yes, I remember him marching away to war at the head of his regiment. We had parades when everyone left in the first World war. Everyone stood on the streets and cheered as the boys marched by."

"You know," Dann added, "the Armistice had been announced once before the 11th. A lot of cities celebrated but I don't remember that Mansfield did. Of course, the old News got out an extra and I walked down to look at bulletins on the News windows.

"It was a hilarious time, but it was a sober time, too, remembering the boys who would not come back."

Jaycees Pick 3 Directors

Three new members were elected to the board of directors at last night's Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting at the Chamber of Commrce rooms.

Dick Sowash, Dick Grafmiller and Bill Oberlander were selected to fill the vacancies on the board.

Elton Whitted, of Ashland, spoke on "What a New ... Can Do." Whitted is a member of the board of directors of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He spoke on the history of the Jaycees and related that there are now 1,700 "locals" in the country with 140,000 members. The Ohio enrollment is 101 cities and 8,200 members.

Agent Says Farmer Not Price Fixer

Blame Denied. As Trend Cited

TIRO—A strong denial that farmers or farm support prices are responsible for present high food prices was made by Crawford county Agricultural Agent Russell Miller when he spoke at the meeting of the Galion Kiwanis club at Hotel Talbott in Galion.

Miller said that farmers are receiving returns for their products but not too much and that it certainly is not the farmer who is responsible for high food costs

Miller stated the farmer receives $137 for his share of $199 worth of meat products; $81 for $133 worth of dairy products and $16 for $38 worth of cereal products. He explained the farmers cost on various products figuring his labor at 72 cents per hour.

Eggs cost 55 cents per dozen and the average price at the New Washington egg auction is 70 cents per dozen. October milk prices for the Cleveland milk shed area averaged $513 per hundred pounds while the cost of producing milk for October was 5.37, the speaker said. It costs $50 to produce a 200 pound hog which will sell for about 27 cents per pound. It takes 10 bushel of corn to produce 100 pounds of pork, he contended.

Miller said Crawford county farmers have an advantageous position in the poultry business as they have two good outlets for eggs; the hatcheries and the auction.

He said farm support prices are needed to keep agriculture on a sound basis due to the peculiar position of farmers. He declared support prices are not responsible for high rices and gave statistics to butress his argument. The support price on hogs is 16 cents er pound and yet hogs are selling for $27.50 per hundred weight. Butterfat prices are 39 per cent above the support prices; beef is way above the support price.

The county agent believes that some government controls will again be necessary when production catches up with demand and he forecast that farmers would be forced by economic conditions into eventually marketing most all their own products.

In answer to a question as to how the bumper corn crop of this year affects the farmers income Miller stated that on a nationwide basis the farmers income was down as compared to last year due to the liquidation of livestock caused partly by labor shortage during the war and partly to the feed shortage last year.

Raps U. S. Health Plan

Twenty Mansfield dentists have returned from a four-day convention of the Ohio Dental association which closed in Columbus yesterday.

The convention was attended by 2,000 Ohio dentists. Chief speaker was Dr. Clyde E. Mingus, president of the American Dental association.

In an address to the dentists he condemned proposals for a federal public health program. He said he was of the belief that President Truman would not press for any new medical legislation at the next session of congress.

He asserted a public health program would be too costly for the average person, uneconomical to administer at a time of peak employment, and impossible to effect with the limited number of trained personnel now available.

Dr. R. B. Moyer, a Mansfield dentist, was retained as secretary of the Ohio Dental Editors association. The association includes editors of dental bulletins.

Strange Sub Alarms Navy

PEARL HARBOR — (U.P.) — Navy air and surface craft, using war-time tactics, swept the Pacific nine miles off the naval base at Pearl Harbor today in search of a mysterious submarine.

The search was touched off by a report of the submarine rescue vessel U. S. S. Bluebird that it had found "evidence of a possible submarine contact nine miles south of Pearl Harbor."

"It is highly unlikely it would be one of our submarines," Pacific fleet submarine force headquarters said. "If it is we don't know anything about it."

"If it's a sub it will have to surface sooner or later," the Navy said.

Voters Seek Referendum

The franchise granted authority to the Ohio Public Service company to furnish power to two Galion concerns, the Galion Iron Works and the Central Ohio Steel Products company. The petitions require the signatures of 10 per cent of Galion city voters.

State Seeks Lake Resort Lease Action

Official Asks Court Steps

COLUMBUS, O.—(INS)—Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins was asked today to take "appropriate steps" to compel French Wilgus to remove his properties from state-owned land at Indian Lake by Saturday.

Wilgus is the operator of an 80-room hotel, a dance hall and a cafe he values at $300,000 to $400,000. They are situated on land on which the State Conservation division has refused to renew the lease Wilgus had held for 24 years.

State Conservation Commissioner H. A. "Buck" Rider, who asked Jenkins to intervene because, Rider said, Wilgus has made no effort to meet the Nov. 13 expiration deadline of his present lease, said the lease was not renewed because Wilgus "ran the place in a manner not in the public interest."

Wilgus charged "politics" in the refusal to renew and stated:

"The plain facts are, I can't move. The buildings are all too big to move bodily on the highway, and salvage operators estimate it would cost me $70,000 to tear the structures down. At most I could get only $30,000 in salvage."

Wilgus said he had appealed to Governor Herbert for a hearing, but the governor said that as yet such an appeal has not crossed his desk.

Rider meanwhile discounted Wilgus' statement he would lose the buildings by declaring that "Wilgus won't have to move the buildings if he sells them."

Charles F. Horvath, of Cleveland, a resort operator, has the new lease on the disputed land.

Home Damaged as Gossipers Again Refuse to Clear Line

Because two women refused to cut short their telephone conversation on a party line, a fire at the home of Fred Myers, 195 East Marshall avenue, caused considerable damage before firemen got it under control today.

Two weeks ago a large house on the Maxwalton farms southeast of Mansfield was destroyed by fire when women on the telephone line wouldn't let a resident of the house call firemen.

When fire of undetermined origin broke out in the first floor bathroom of the Myers' home, Mrs. Myers tried frantically to call the fire department.

Although she screamed into the phone that there was a fire at her home, the two women refused to get off the line so that she could get help, she said.

Mrs. Myers was so excited she said she didn't know how long she tried to get the line. Finally a neighbor noticed the fire and telephoned the fire department.

At 10:50 a. m. firemen from Central and No. 3 stations answered the call.

The fire burned from the bathroom through the ceiling into a second floor bedroom before firemen succeeded in extinguishing the flames.

Mrs. Myers said that the bed room floor was chopped up in an effort to put out the fire and that there was considerable water damage.

After firemen arrived, Mrs. Myers tried to call her husband. She said two women were again on the line and they sounded like the same ones who had refused to get off the phone before. This time they hung up after she asked to use the line.

Pledge of Allegiance to Flag

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Thirty Years After 'Armistice Day'

ANOTHER Armistice day, and except as its observance serves as a tribute to the survivors of World War I and a memorial to those who gave their lives during that struggle "to make the world safe for democracy," thoughts of that armistice which became effective November 11, 1918, incline to be bitter rather than pleasant.

An "armistice" is defined as "a temporary suspension of hostilities," and that is exactly what the armistice of thirty years ago turned out to be—giving time for hostile forces to regain strength to again launch what became World War II, from the effects of which the United States and many other countries are still suffering greatly.

The war which extended from 1914 to 1918, and the armistice which interrupted military action, are now recognized to have been but the opening chapters of a period of world turmoil, in which the two greatest wars in history were separated by twenty years of uneasy peace and preparation for renewed strife.

Now the story is repeating itself, as the years since 1945 serve to remind of the middle 1930's when international relations were steadily becoming worse.

This time it is a new challenger that has arisen to disturb the bright hopes of permanent peace through harmonious action by the United Nations, as had seemed possible through the League of Nations which came into being after the first World war.

If this Armistice day is to serve the intent of its observance it may well be made the occasion for a renewal of determination to strive earnestly for the preservation of peace and also to make this nation of ours so strong that it will hereafter be prepared to protect itself against any aggressor that may threaten the overthrow of its government and substitution of totalitarian rule.

The United States rightfully assumes obligations connected with post-war rehabilitation of countries in other parts of the world, but in the fulfillment of these obligations provisions for the future wellbeing of our own country should at no time be disregarded.

Russia's Strategic Moves In China

WHILE Americans have been busy with the presidential election and its aftermath, Russia has achieved a masterstroke in the Soviet drive for world domination. The strategy was simple and effective.

The Russians feinted in Europe. They went through the motions of a series of peace talks with envoys of the Western democracies. They argued about German currency. They threatened to interfere with the airlift. By these means they kept the Western powers occupied.

Meanwhile, the Soviets achieved a major conquest in Manchuria. Mukden, the capital city, fell to the Chinese communists backed by Moscow. A great area of the earth's surface came under the domination of the Kremlin.

To add insult to tragedy, it has been learned that the supposedly loyal Chinese leaders accepted supplies and arms from the government—much of which was American aid—only to sell out their cities with all the supplies to the advancing reds at the highest possible price.

Here is an efficient combination of diplomacy and military aggression which has netted Russia a great prize. The Western powers are going to have to revise their methods if we hope to stop the Soviet march—which must be done!

Declare Some 'Comic Books' Harmful

THE SUBJECT of objectionable "comic books" has been presented for consideration by at least one of Mansfield's Parent-Teacher groups, with exhibits of some of the dime "thrillers" that are regarded as having a bad influence on children, either because of the vulgarity or viciousness pictured.

It was made clear that some comic books are unobjectionable, while sale of others should be banned—as has already been done in a number of cities.

Consensus of opinion at the P-TA meeting was that "something should be done about it" locally, with suggestion that a Community Welfare council be created to handle the matter — and it will be interesting to see if anything comes of it.

In some cities the initiative has been taken by officials, with action by the police department, but insofar as Mansfield is concerned, it appears to be up to interested citizens to make the first move.

"Americans should learn to obey their leaders," said Vishinsky at Yalta, according to Robert E. Sherwood, author of "Roosevelt and Hopkins." This is a democracy as the Soviet leaders see it, and indicates their failure to understand the American variety.

Clyde Moore, Ohio State Journal paragrapher, moans: "While both the winning and losing candidates are able to take a vacation, the voters have to keep their noses to the grindstone."

More serious worriers are now disturbed by the thought that the sun may suddenly flicker out—there being no guarantee on the theory that it will last through another two billion years.

Quite a happy thought at that—to have National Education week coming along just a week after that highly educational election.

For Americans too young to remember 1916, it may have come as something of a surprise that a presidential election can be so close.

What Some Other People Are Saying

DEWITT EMERY, president of the Small Businessmen's Association: "What right has the federal trade commission or any other government bureau or agency to tell me whether I should sell my product at a delivered or FOB price."

PAUL HOFFMAN, ECA chief, commenting on the war in China: "I would say the situation was desperate. We are planning to go ahead with the ECA program to China until events there clarify the situation."

DONALD A. RICHBERG, former New Dealer: "Organized labor's insistence on the closed shop really is a demand to set up private governments. Unions have yielded to the seductive power of coercion as they have grown in strength."

Must It All Be Done Over Again?

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Parnell Thomas Reminded of Privileges

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Memo to Congressman J. Parnell Thomas, Chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee:

Although this column first exposed your un-American activity in taking salary kickbacks from employes, this is not written in a desire to gloat over your indictment; but rather to point out some of the great privileges of being American which all of us do not appreciate. On the basis of your previous behavior, you appear to be one who fails in that appreciation.

For instance, when you later go on trial before a jury of your peers, no inference can be drawn from the fact that last week before a grand jury you refused to testify because you might incriminate yourself.

Scores of witnesses before your own committee have been berated because they refused to testify for the same reason. But the judge, giving you the full privilege of your American citizenship, will instruct the jury to disregard your previous refusal to testify.

Furthermore, even after your indictment this week, you are presumed to be innocent until trial by jury finds you guilty. That is your privilege as an American—a privilege you have denied to many others whom you tried before the bar of congressional public opinion.

Even when you go to trial you can still refuse to testify and no inference can be drawn from that refusal. The judge will specifically instruct the jury that that is your privilege as an American.

* * *

Your Privilege, Mr. Thomas.

DURING your trial, furthermore, the government prosecutor cannot and will not bring up any irrelevant facts that might prejudice the jury against you. He cannot bring out the fact that you changed your name from Feeney, though you have badgered witnesses before your committee who changed their names.

Nor can the prosecutor bring out any of your ungentlemanly behavior when traveling between Washington and New Jersey. Unlike some of the hearings before your own committee, you will be tried strictly on the charges brought against you—namely, did you receive salary kickbacks or not?

Furthermore, it will be your privilege as an American to be represented by counsel. You can consult with him at any time you wish. He will be constantly at your side as you face the judge and jury.

If you should not be able to afford counsel, the judge will appoint a lawyer to represent you at no expense to yourself. You have denied committee witnesses the right to consult with counsel as they testified, but when you go on trial the judge will make sure that this American right is yours.

Those, Mr. Thomas, are some of the privileges of being American. They have been won by your ancestors and mine over many years of battling for the rights of man.

And many millions of Americans would fight now to see that they are not torn down, would even fight to make sure that you get their full benefit — even though you denied them to others.

I hope you will ponder this, and that your colleagues in the new Congress will make the future un-American activities committee one which will proudly perform its job of making democracy live.

Note—A good part of the nation will be watching new Speaker Sam Rayburn and his appointments to the new un-American activities committee. A great public servant, Sam sometimes leans toward close cronies instead of statesmen when it comes to making committee appointments.

* * *

Election Aftermaths.

AN investigation of the Gallup, Roper and Crossley polls will be asked at the next session of Congress . . . Foreign Minister Evatt of Australia, president of the United Nations, was one of the few diplomats who made money betting on Truman . . . Only 96 hours before the election, President Truman privately wasn't so sure of the results. Talking to a friend in New York, he said, "I guess I'm licked. But it's worth the fight. At least, the people will know some of the issues. When this is over I'm going back to Missouri and run for Congress again." . . . Henry Wallace and Senator Glen Taylor will meet in Chicago to plan the future of the Progressive party. They now want Truman to send Wallace on a peace mission to Moscow . . . Diplomats made a quiet analysis of congressional election returns, found that one-third of all the isolationists who voted against the Marshall Plan were defeated . . . Nebraska's Senator Kenneth Wherry, GOP majority leader, has disappeared for a rest; won't even let his own staff members know where he is.

* * *

Marshall's Worries.

SECRETARY of State Marshall is privately most unhappy over the progress of military operations against the communists in Greece. He discovered on his recent trip that, despite millions of U. S. dollars poured into Greece, there are now more rebels than ever there.

Marshall blames part of this on the U. S. Army officers advising the Greek army. They have not been tough enough in forcing the Greek army into a full-scale offensive against the communists. That's the reason for Marshall's sudden visit to Athens two weeks ago. As a result of this trip, you can write it down that:

1. General Van Fleet, U. S. military commander in Greece, will be reassigned to a new post.

2. The U. S. government will turn down the Greek government's request for permission to increase the size of its army.

Some Obstacles Sighted

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — It is becoming clear already in "interpretations" of the recent election by spokesmen of big interests who are trying to discount the Truman triumph that the campaign already is under way to nullify the victory of the people.

What the people said was plenty plain. They want more social and economic protection along the lines that Harry S. Truman promised in his campaign which they ratified.

They don't want any more sleight-of-hand and hidden ball plays such as those in the 80th Congress to check such changes. Harry Truman told them all about those and the election showed they had caught on.

Yet those who would steal this election, after the fact, are relying again upon Congress and the same sort of legislative legerdemain. Their hope lies in using an old familiar blockade—that coalition between hard-shelled Republicans and mossback southern Democrats that was organized ten years ago after the 1938 election and has stopped every proposed social and economic welfare measure since.

It could happen if the people are not alert and if President Truman fails to organize his victory in Congress.

But the President can get most of his program, and without too much compromise, if he constantly calls upon the great public support manifest for him in the election, keeps the people informed of what goes on in Congress as he did so effectively in his campaign analyses of the 80th Congress, and uses his political skill to organize the progressive forces in Congress and the nation.

For the election was a victory for progressivism and an analysis of election results shows that this can be translated into Congress through changes there that the voters made, so that the President can have a workable majority. Despite the coalition, in both branches on most of his program.

There was a considerable and healty infusion of progressivism in new members who ran on the Truman program. These came for the most part from areas conducive to progressivism, any from big urban centers in the East and Middle West which reflect the influence of labor, others from the West where there is basic progressivism and particularly on conservation issues such as reclamation and public power.

Properly organized and directed, they will be in a position to batter away at such barriers as may be raised by conservative southern Democrats who again will occupy some important committee chairmanships, though not quite as many as formerly.

* * *

Care Will Be Needed.

AN EXAMPLE of the problem of President Truman and progressives is the House rules committee where the ball has been hidden so often be fore, most recently in the 80th Congress when the long-range housing bill was tucked away so that the House never got a chance to vote on it.

Democrats will have eight places on that committee in the 81st Congress, with four for Republicans. There are five Democratic vacancies. If the clear mandate of the election is not represented there by progressive appointments and if conservatives are given a preponderance—there are already two southern Democrats on the committee—then much of the election victory will be stolen right there, no matter how the people voted.

A quick appraisal as of this time indicates that President Truman should be successful on housing, health, education and minimum wage increase bills to which the Republican platform also gave endorsement.

He will have difficulty with revision of the Taft-Hartley Act and inflation controls, though he should get something in each of those fields.

As for civil rights, he now has a majority in both branches through Republican support, though the same filibuster problem exists in the Senate as before unless the rules are changed to outlaw filibustering.

(Copyright, 1948)

Dave Boone Says:

HARRY TRUMAN is on his Florida vacation with almost the entire election-campaign entourage including newspaper, radio and camera crews. He must like the campaign agony so much he hates to get over it.

* * *

No human being can get a rest with a mob like that around. If Doc Graham, the White House sawbones, is on the job, he will forcibly isolate Harry, put a "Don't Disturb" sign on the door and insist that the President get at least as much rest as Dewey.

* * *

Nobody could go through what Truman did since last June and not be in desperate need of a few days away from it all.

* * *

He is one of those pioneer-stock Americans who just don't show on the outside how tired they are on the inside. But why make him suffer for being elected?

Armistice Days That Live In Memory

By KENNETH L. DIXON

Editor's Note—More than the ordinary amount of space is given this article of Kenneth Dixon's, because of its Armistice Day timeliness and the tremendous impact of the message it conveys. Read it—all of you who have seen the frightfulness of war, and all of you who are pondering the possibility of another war.

* * *

WASHINGTON — Armistice Day. Cessation from arms, says the dictionary . . . end of hostilities.

That's what it means, the expert says. That's what it stands for. And a reporter's got no business arguing. He's been kicking around the world too long, messing in too many things, to be an expert on any count.

All he can do is remember.

("We try to watch the boys pretty carefully," the G.R.S. lieutenant said. "Make it as easy on 'em as possible. Some of them just can't take it. Blow their tops. Can't blame 'em, but we try to transfer them before it happens." G.R.S. stands for Graves Registration Service. The little military cemetery was so close behind the lines that the hired villagers dived without qualms into the very graves they were digging when the big shells screamed in. Sometimes they even hit the cemetery, ripping into the soft wet earth, disturbing the already dead and adding new recruits to their ranks. . . .)

* * *

Haunting Memories.

THERE was that Armistice Day in 1941, when the embryo pilots flew their puddle-jumper planes in formation over the courthouse square, while the ramrod-backed infantry volunteers stood at stone-faced attention on the green grass down below, and the bugle cried out "taps" in tones so sharp and clear that it hurt and thrilled.

And not one of his age quite knew then what it meant. Not one, for that was in 1941 . . .

("See what I mean?" said the lieutenant softly. A weapons carrier had just pulled up before the tiny G.R.S. shack at the cemetery corner. Dull-faced, emotionless, the graves registration crew got up, pulled on their white gloves. Cotton gloves. The kind of gloves a farmer wears before it gets so cold he must abandon the use of individual fingers and turn to mittens. Slowly, the crew walked to the weapons carrier. Then they stood—a sergeant and three privates—looking in over the tailgate at its grim burden, deciding how to start . . .)

Armistice Day, 1942. And realization was coming more rapidly. Commemorative services at an army post, but the thrill was gone from the bugle's keening cry, and the spine-tingle could mean anything . . . anything . . .

(Inside the weapons carrier, there were three bodies, or rather, four and a half. The sergeant undid the tailgate and they went to work, two men carrying each body out, laying it on the ground in front of the shack. Except that their eyes moved, their faces were as expressionless as the pale, putty-like masks of the dead they carried. When they came to the half-body, a soldier hesitated. The sergeant shouldered him aside, not ungently, took it in his arms and carried it to lie beside the rest. No one spoke. The driver climbed back into the weapons carrier, lit a cigarette, did not race his engine or clash his gears as he eased the awkward vehicle out of the graveyard . . .)

Armistice Day, 1943, was somewhere in Italy, therefore quite meaningless. Some distance behind the lines, there were a few ceremonies but even those forced to participate were not impressed. Cynicism and bitterness come hard at first—before the dam breaks and the soul is flooded . . .

* * *

That Awful Sameness.

(AND NOW the dead had been put in bed-sacks—or mattress covers, if you liked that term better—their belongings placed in neat little piles beside them. The bottom half of one sack was folded carefully upward, as though defying death to protest the half-measure being given. The lieutenant gestured at the stacks of personal effects. "We have another soldier, who doesn't see the bodies, go through those," he said. "With pictures and all, it's easier that way. Seems like you don't feel it so much, if you haven't seen the man . . .")

Armistice Day, 1944. Outside Metz. A famous general made loud noises about traditions, the meaning of the day and so on. But one cold, wet, weary casualty-shattered division held almost the same terrain it had held a quarter-century before—except these were the sons of the soldiers of that other war . .

(The graves registration crew walked back to the shack. Carefully they pulled off their gloves, laid them down. Then they went around the corner, sprawled out in the sunlight, lighted cigarettes in silence. Eventually, about the third or fourth drag, their faces began to come alive again . . .)

Armistice Day, 1945. Celebration. Homecoming . . . Armistice Day, 1946. World arguments. Frantic disbelief. . . . Admistice Day, 1947, rearmament. Preparedness . . . Armistice Day, 1948. Cold war . . .

("Guess this job gets anybody after a while," said the lieutenant, himself a twice-wounded ex-platoon leader. "Sometimes I get to thinking, if I had to go through this again, I'd rather be out there under one of those crosses. At least, you'd be through fighting—forever . . .)

Chinese 'Crisis' Again

THE GREAT military victory of the Chinese communists in Manchuria represents a disaster for nationalist China, and by that same token strengthens the hand of Moscow in its world revolution for the sperad of the Red ism.

This means that America, because of her special interest in maintaining the independence of China, is faced with another major crisis in the Orient.

Observers in China say that the Chinese communists, with the great city of Mukden in their hands, may be expected to overrun the rest of Manchuria in the immediate future.

This would intensify the threat against Nationalist China and certainly would hold out the possibility of a Red victory sweeping the nation.

A communist China would give Russia a base which might dominate the Orient, with its population of more than half the people of the globe. China alone has within its borders some 500,000,000.

"But," protests someone, "the Chinese communists are not the Russian brand of Reds. They are 'agrarians.'"

Buncombe! Don't let anybody tell you that. I had this "agrarian" story handed me by one of the top Chinese communists in Chungking in 1943. A thorough investigation convinced me that the Chinese Reds are a piece off the Moscow cloth. If the Chinese communists take over in China, that will mean Russia has taken over.

* * *

Feeling of "Deep Concern."

Small wonder that my colleague John M. Hightower reports from Washington: "Officials show deep concern over military, political, and economic reports from the embattled land (China). They no longer appear so confident as they once were that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's government can revive its powers of leadership and put an end to the disastrous civil war with the communists."

The United States has approved $5,000,000 worth of arms purchases by Nationalist China. Shipment of ammunition and equipment of many kinds has been speeded up because of the collapse in Manchuria.

Some Washington officials believe that American help will be important in the defense of North China, which is expected to come under heavy attack by next spring from the communists installed in Manchuria.

President Chiang Kai-Shek—tired and harassed but still full of determination—declares that China must "fight on." Said he:

"We have had reverses in the northeast (Manchuria) but the communists are not yet in a position to directly menace north China."

Whether Chiang has real grounds for any optimism is a matter of doubt. In any event the position is precarious.

There has been some speculation whether a coalition government of nationalists and communists could succeed. As a matter of fact the Reds themselves were debating this before their success in Manchuria. However, one suspects that they will have lost their interest in the subject, in view of their latest military victory.

In any event the cold fact is that communism cannot be made to mix with any other ideology.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

THE indictment of one congressman was not particularly shocking . . . As far back as July Mr. Truman indicted the whole Congress.

* * *

The public trial was held November 2 and there were few acquittals.

* * *

But what makes J. Parnell's case interesting is that he was the second Thomas within one week to get bad news.

* * *

Rep. Thomas might claim to have overlooked a few statistics . . . After all he has been dealing with a lot of people with faulty memories.

* * *

But I don't know how far a jury would go along with a defense of habit formed by environment.

Anyway he is assured of as fair a hearing as he ever gave a witness.

Farmer's Diary

Enjoying Auction Sale

By CALVIN A. BYERS

TWO motorists drove up to a country filling station where I happened to be. "How do I get to that big sale of riding horses?" inquired a denim-clad young farmer. "Follow me, I'm going right there," offered an old man who was putting air into a tire.

So I watched them go, and presently I decided to go, too. A sale is always an interesting occasion—and this one was to be a large farm auctioned off, with a stableful of riding horses, in addition to household furniture, farm machinery and tools.

The day was beautiful. A hillside pasture was parked full of cars. There were plenty of folks in riding clothes, and the picturesque costumes added a western flavor unusual in our locality. Horseback riding has many devotees out our way, and horsemen and women by twos and threes often gallop along our graveled roads or through the back country lanes.

A good horse can take you almost anywhere, uphill and down, at a pleasant gait. Animals of the woods are unafraid of person on horseback. "Give a man a horse he can ride" . . . not a draft horse though.

Frequently at other sales, I have seen teams of heavy work horses sell cheap. Farming is no longer done with horse-drawn tools, out our way.

A Palomino stallion brought more than $300 today. The others sold $30, $40, $50, $100. The crowd was quiet when the bidding on the horses began. Men who sized up the mounts watched them go through their paces, women compared this one to that—nobody left while the sale was on.

The farmer's 12-year-old son was adept with the mounts. He knew each horse, and loved some more than others. To show how gentle and quiet a horse can be, he slid off behind; down over the heels, without wincing.

I didn't buy a horse. Instead I came home with an applebutter kettle. But I had a fine time, saw a lot of friends I had not seen for a while, and talked to a number of candidates who were running for office. Democrats and Republicans, mostly.

Country sales are a lot of fun. So many funny people attend them!

Dayton Plans Income Levy

DAYTON —(INS)— A city income tax in Dayton was agreed upon by the city commission yesterday as the only way out of the city's financial difficulties.

In a surprise action, the commission voted to levy the tax, even though its form has not been approved. It will be either a one-half per cent levy without exemptions or a one per cent levy with exemptions.

The city fathers hope to have the levy in operation Jan. 1 or no later than April 1 to overcome a million-dollar-a-year deficit.

The levy will have a four-year time limit. Details will be worked out by the city's legal staff after a study of similar levies in effect in Toledo, Columbus, Youngstown and Portsmouth.

Modern Girl Is Taller, Heavier

Have you ever tried on a dress that your grandmother wore? Chances are you couldn't get in it. The waistline was too tiny, the blouse was too tight and the skirt stopped at the ankles instead of sweeping the floor.

Women's figures have changed astonishingly since 1873, the year the Woman's Home Companion first appeared. In its anniversary issue the Companion says the modern girl si taller and more slender—but she weighs several pounds more than her grandmother did.

Today's glamour girl has a large waist and a bigger chest expansion, but through the past 75 years only the shoulders haven't changed—they measure about the same.

Principal causes for these changes says the Companion are a freer style of dress, increased interest in sports, more abundant food and a faster pace of living.

Heirs to Germany's Crown Ignored Nazis

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN — (AP) — On a cold, rainy night just 30 years ago, two automobiles skidded to a stop at the German-Dutch border.

A young officer approached the Dutch guard. Papers were examined. The two cars proceeded into Holland.

That was the end of a monarchy in Germany — Nov. 9, 1918. Two days later the once-great German armies capitulated to the American-French-British forces.

In the two cars were Kaiser Wilhelm II, his wife Augusta Viktoria and their staff. The Kaiser had quit because his country was in revolution, his armies in defeat. His generals had told him there was no other course.

As he went across the border to exile at Doorn, Holland, several hundred thousand Germans standing before the Reichstag in Berlin heard the proclamation of the first German republic.

After 500 years, the house of Hohenzollern was without a throne.

After the advent of Hitler, where were the Kaiser's children? They were scattered throughout Germany, in seclusion, except for one. August Wilhelm, his third son, was the only one to pay any attention to Hitler. He followed the Nazi cause.

The others did as good a job of ignoring Nazism as it was possible to do those days.

Today, only the old folks even remember the Kaiser. Germans scarcely even answer when anyone starts a conversation about the royal princess or the monarchy.

August Wilhelm (always nicknamed "Auwi") has had the roughest time since the war's end. For a long time he was in various jails, charged with being a more than ordinary supporter of Hitler. Auwi held a commission onetime in the Nazi SA organization, the street-fighting "Brownshirts."

Should such a thing happen as restoration of the monarchy, the man to step onto the throne by ordinary rules is Louis Ferdinand, son of the crown prince. Louis got a lot of publicity in the 1930's by working as a mechanic in the Ford automobile plant in Michigan Today he is a dealer in Ford parts in Bremen where he lives with his wife, Princess Kyra, daughter of the old Czarist Grand Duke Kyrill of Russia. They have six children.

The other descendants of the Kaiser are all at work somewhere in Germany in little jobs. One princess runs an art shop. Another prince is in charge of a vineyard.

They live in bitter memories, heirs to a name without glory, a throne without a country, a past without a future.

PRETTY Elizabeth Sauer (above), 19, who fell in love with an American sergeant, Ralph Gaber, in her native Germany and came to Pittsburgh, Pa., to marry him, has decided to wed his brother, Karl, instead. When Elizabeth arrived in the U. S. last September, both Ralph and Karl were on hand to greet her. And, according to Elizabeth, when Karl gave her a brotherly kiss—the romance started.—International.

Prize Bull Must Produce or Be Post Mortem Exhibit 'A'

DES MOINES— (AP) —A prize-winning sterile bull's name is apt to be post mortem if he doesn't soon show signs of being able to uroduce offspring.

The seven-year-old bull, T Royal Rupert 99th, underwent an operation last summer in an attempt to cure his inability to produce heirs for his illustrious title.

The $35,000 Hereford, owned by Gov. Roy Turner of Oklahoma, is now on pasture on the Foxbilt Feed farms near Colfax, Ia., east of here.

Wayne Fox, manager of the farms, said they would test Rupert artificially in a few weeks to determine if the operation was a success.

"If he still isn't any good," Fox said, "we may do away with him and hold a post mortem. After all he's getting along in years and attempts to cure him have been made over a five-year span.

The Oklahoma governor turned the bull over to Fox to see if he could get Prince Rupert to produce little Ruperts. Last July at Iowa State college a pituitary gland from another bull was transplanted in Rupera's flank.

Fox said Rupert seemed to be in fine condition although "a little meaner than he used to be." He said he thought the eye treatments had made the bull a little anti-social.

Your Little Tyke Needs Your Guidance and Helping Hand

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE

"I sometimes wish all parents would hang upon the wall, where they could see it, a framed sampler bearing the legend 'The Child Is Helpless'," says Bonaro W. Overstreet, noted author, lecturer and adult educator.

Writing in the magazine National Parent-Teacher, she explains that the extent to which parents realize this fact and respond to it, will largely determine the child's later capacity to handle life.

Parents need not, of course, be reminded that the child cannot provide its own food and shelter. This is ancient parental knowledge, she says. What we have only begun to realize, however, is how helpless the child is to satisfy its own emotional needs; how precarious the psychic condition is unless the parents provide a steady, reassuring diet of love.

It was long believed, says Mrs. Overstreet, that the babe in arms, and even the toddler and growing child, lived in a blessed world of its own, immune to the problems of grownups. Psychiatrists have made short shrift of this happy illusion. On the basis of clinical experience, they are prepared to insist that even the smallest infant is "aware" — in however vague and dispersed a fashion — of any emotional tension in the environment upon which it depends for its security.

When infant Kenneth, for example, becomes suddenly unable to digest his food he may be experiencing, at second hand, an anxiety or irritation communicated to him by his mother. Or the cause may lie in a haunting fear bred in him when he overheard a violent quarrel between his mother and father.

Two parental attitudes must probably share the blame for most of the stored-up, unconscious guilt feelings that distort the lives of children, and of the adults whom those children become, says Mrs. Overstreet. The first attitude is whimsfulness. Where moods are undependable and rules erratic, a child cannot work out any way of behavior that will reliably insure his winning approval and affection. Never being sure what is wanted, the child is continually subject to a sense of failure and guilt.

The second attitude, she says, is irrational severity. When a child cannot live up to what his parents demand, he may suffer such guilt feelings that his chances of ever becoming a happy, emotionally liberated adult will be sadly diminished, and society may suffer a real loss.

Insurance companies give children in Washington state a longer life expectancy than other average United States children. This is due, in part, to an ample supply of protective foods such as the healthful apples which grow abundantly in the state.

Hat Haven Turns Trick For Women

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

NEW YORK — It's funny about hats.

When a woman is wearing the right hat, she can get the job, make the speech or impress the man she's after.

When she feels that her hat isn't up to snuff, she might as well stay home for all the good she'll do, in business or in love.

Realizing this long-established fact, a custom milliner by the name of Mrs. Matty Clarke has started a hat renting haven on New York's fashionable east side, for the benefit of women who must have a special hat for a special occasion and don't feel that they can pay the required $50,- and-up to buy one.

For an outlay of $3 per day plus a $15 deposit, Mrs. Clarke sends her customers out equipped with the right hat for the right purpose. Those who rent hats fall principally into two classes: career girls who want to make the right impression during important job interviews, and women confronted with an unexpected dinner date, who must have a fabulous hat for a big evening.

Whole wedding parties also are frequent customers, selecting hats for the one important occasion, returning them the next day.

Most in demand are the dinner cocktail hats, all strictly alluring, rented by business girls for a big date. Says Mrs. Clarke:

"One of my first customers was a girl who came in for a hat to wear on a blind date. I fixed her up with a romantic little bonnet that made her look as pretty as a calendar picture. Two weeks later the same girl came back to pick out a hat for her wedding. The bonnet did the trick."

Home-Knitting Hits A New High

Associated Press Fashion Editor

The steady click of needles is heard through the land, as home-knitting hits a new high.

Following a survey of yarn sales, the American Wool Council estimates that one out of every six women in the United States will own a hand-knit or crocheted suit or dress this winter—one that she has made herself.

Socks, sweaters and berets will continue to flow from the knitting bag in increased numbers, but the big interest is in hand-knit suits and dresses, say yarn manufacturers.

This new and ambitious interest is attributed to the high-price of custom-knit garments and to the improved yarns and patterns now on the market. These make it possible for women to turn out smart, professional-looking garments in a minimum of time. The results are far different from the shapeless, sagging garments turned out by proud knitters of a decade ago.

High-style detail, simplified instructions and sag-resistant yarns have made the difference, as well as improved methods of sizing and blocking.

Today's hand-knit styles are in step with the '49 silhouette, and smart women all over the country are knitting their own.

Cleveland Milk Prices To Drop Cent Next Week

A reduction of one cent a quart on the price of milk in Cleveland, effective next week, was announced yesterday by the manager of the Fairmount Foods Co.

Other Cleveland dairies are expected to follow in the price reduction.

Mansfield dairymen were unable to say yet whether prices here would follow the Cleveland lead. Usually milk prices in Mansfield adhere to the Cleveland price.

The announced cut will set the price of milk in Cleveland at 20 cents a quart for home delivery, and prices of other dairy products will be reduced correspondingly.

Even Cowboy Uses Airplane

LANCASTER, Cal. —(U.P.)— Ernest T. Fillinger, 52-year-old Antelope valley rancher, thinks the air age is here to stay.

Twenty-five years ago he offered to trade his home in Santa Monica for an airplane. Finally he constructed his own plane from a bunch of old parts and an engine which uses only dry cells for its ignition system.

Today Fillinger uses the same plane for shopping trips to the city, chores about his ranch and to commute to his civilian job at the Muroc Army base 40 miles away.

His plane's engine, now 29 years old, is as good as ever, Fillinger says. He explains it is the same type Amelia Earhart used in her plane when she learned to fly.

The rancher devised a special wrench so he can turn pipe line irrigation valves off and on without leaving the plane.

He does all the repair work on the plane himself and has installed gadgets so he can start the engine and pull the chocks from the wheels without leaving the cockpit.

Midget Plane Test Delayed

SAN DIEGO (U.P.)—Plans to testfly the "world's smallest airplane" have been delayed while changes in the 13-foot plane's design are made.

The craft, built in a Mission Beach garage, is called the Wee-Bee. It is 13-feet long with a wing span of 15 feet and total weight of 150 pounds. The pilot lies prone atop the plane to fly it.

The plane is being developed by four employes of Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp, who built it in their spaire time.

Karl H. Montijo, one of the four, has made high-speed taxi runs in which the plane has been off the ground four to six feet. Others associated in the project are William F. Chana, Jim Wilder and Kenneth Coward.

Coward said the first test flight is still some time off while the wing "angle of incidence" is being altered and nose landing gear shortened.

Dog An Ingrate, Snaps Rescuers

ST. LOUIS (U.P.)—A mongrel pup, rescued with three other dogs from a sewer pipe, apparently didn't like the bath that came with the rescue.

Police, firemen and humane society officers had to tear up the well kept grass of the golf course at Westborough Country Club to rescue the trio. Then a hose was stuck into the pipe to force the dogs into a nearby creek.

When the shivering leader of the group recovered his apomb, he growled viciously, snapped at his rescuers and scampered away.

Swim Suit Threat Gets Quick Result

MONTEREY, Cal. —(U.P.)— A disgruntled Monterey woman threatened the city council with a suit—a bathing suit.

Elsie Luce, a swimming instructor, told the city fathers that if the storm sewer in front of her house was not fixed, she would appear at the next council meeting wearing a swim suit. Mayor Hugh Dormody promised speedy action.

Heresay Data Pins Guilt On Ilse Koch

Human Skin Case Evidence Light

MUNICH—(U.P.)—Ilse Koch was convicted on purely circumstantial evidence of ordering tattooed prisoners exterminated so she could use their skins for lamp-shades.

Court records reveal that no witness ever testified that she ordered prisoners with tattoos executed. No witness ever testified that she ordered lamp-shades made from human skn.

But a German who is a former inmate of the notorious concentration camp at Buchenwald told the war crimes court which found Frau Koch guilty that she once took the prison number of a French inmate who had "a beautiful big sailboat" tattoed on his chest.

This witness, Herbert Froeboess,, said the Frenchman disappeared later, and that he then saw a piece of human skin, with the sailboat tattoo on it, stretched in a drying frame in a camp laboratory.

Another German former inmate, Kurt Titz, testified he saw a lamp-shade, with a sailboat on it, in the Koch house later when he was working there He did not know whether it was made of human skin.

Eugen Kogon, one of the most respected former inmates of Buchenwald, and author of the book "S. S. State," testified at Frau Koch's trial that he frequently had seen tattooed human skin stretched on frames in the camp laboratory.

Pierre Biermann, another former inmate, testified that tattooed skins were being mounted in the laboratory long after Frau Koch left the camp in June, 1943. He said S S. doctors mounted the pieces of skin in an "experiment" they were doing.

That is the trial record in so far as the question of Ilse Koch's connection with lamp-shades made from tattooed human skin is concerned

Prove Theories In Diabetes Cases

Rabbits Making History In Experiments

BOSTON—(AP)—Three friendly rabbits at Boston university School of Medicine are making medical history—nothing happens when they're given insulin.

They are ordinary rabbits, but are the first of their kind in being resistant to insulin, the potent medicine for diabetes.

They may explain why a few humans with diabetes sometimes need tremendous amounts of insulin to keep them alive.

Diabetes causes a great increase in the amount of sugar in the blood, and in body loss of sugar. Insulin, a hormone from the pancreas gland, is one control over proper utilization of sugar In people with diabetes, something goes wrong with their production of insulin.

Most diabetics are kept perfectly healthy by small daily injections of insulin from beef pancreas. In rare cases, something goes wrong and the person may need 1,000 to 4,000 units of insulin a day.

Doctors suspected that their systems had formed antibodies to the beef insulin. Antobodies are substances that combine with and neutralize the things that gave rise to them in the first place. Disease germs produce antibodies. So can proteins, of which insulin is one.

The work with the rabbits indicates that this antibody explanation is the right one for what happens in these human patients.

Dr. Francis C. Lowell and his associates gave injections of beef insulin to the rabbits. At the same time, the rabbits were given a special preparation which promotes formation of of antibodies to any foreign proteins.

After a time, the rabbits became resistant to the injections of beef insulin. The injections no longer had any effect on their blood sugar, apparently because the rabbits had antibodies against the insulin.

The rabbit's own pancreas gland produces insulin. But this insulin is different from that of cattle. The antibodies didn't interfere with the insulin produced in the rabbit's own body. So the rabbits stay healthy.

When vegetables are to be steamed only enough boiling water is added to supply steam during cooking.

Honor their names–

and remember!

In city squares and on village greens throughout the land, there stand the Rolls of Honor.

They bear the names of those who served—in one or both great wars—that peace again might live and freedom endure.

Will new names—an even longer list—someday be added in another war? Your name? The names of your children?

A lot depends on the strength of our determination—and the strength of our Armed Forces. For only a strong America can stand firm against aggression, can command the respect and attention its plea for peace deserves.

Our Soldiers, Sailors, Airmen, Marines and Coast Guardsmen must be the best—alert, efficient, expertly trained. They must be equipped with the very latest in scientific advancement. Above all, they need the wholehearted support of every loyal American to maintain the strength authorized by Congress.

On this our thirtieth Armistice Day, we would do well to remember not only those who sustained us in war, but those who now stand between us and the threat of attack.

Last time we forgot. And in our forgetfulness, we allowed our Armed Forces to grow weak. In our weakness, we could only hope. We cannot—we must not—repeat that tragic mistake.

On this day of memory, let every one of us resolve that America shall stay strong.

Bond Issue Recount Asked In Washington Township

A recount of the votes cast in the $17,000 bond issue proposal for a Washington township highway garage was requested yesterday, Thomas R. Zeigler, clerk of the board of elections reported.

A shift of one vote from the "against" column to the "for" column would have passed the proposal.

The vote was 387 for and 209 against, or 64.93 per cent, just .07 of the required 65 per cent majority required for passage of a bond issue.

The group making the recount request was headed by Doyle Donough, Zeigler said. Cost of the recount is $20, since there are two precincts in Washington township.

However, if the recount shows that there was an error in the board's count and the issue passes then the money is refunded. Zeigler said no time has been set up for the recount, but that it probably would be made at the regular meeting of the board next Thursday.

Claims Election Returns Haven't Given Truman Any Added Ability

There has been an ignoble note of humility in most of the stated comment of the American press on the recent solemn referendum. The editorial remarks of the Hearst publications are an honorable exception and although Mr. Howard of the Scripps-Howard group seemed to be cheering the conqueror, I listened closely and what he really said was something about suckers reproducing their kind.

The people can't be wrong. There is a distinct impression that these election returns, by stimulating Mr. Truman's spirits and self-confidence, have also enlarged and fortified his character and broadened his education and wisdom. Obviously, they have done no such things. They couldn't, and only poltroons or sordid mercenaries who hope to propitiate the president and escape punishment for acting the part of Americans in campaign time would entertain this absurd proposition.

Mr. Truman is the same man today that he was the day before election, a more ingrating man by far than Governor Dewey, a fighter who desn't mind rolling among the gobboons; a man so truly to the people that he figures out what would fool him if he were in their place and used it to fool them.

The fact is, as Norman Thomas put it, that neither Mr. Truman nor Mr. Dewey discussed the issues. As to whether Dewey should have come down off his toes and slugged with the president, I am not a Bigot. As matters turned out, he had nothing to lose by fighting head-tohead, but in 1944 he let Roosevelt pull him into a slugging match with his speech to the tosspots at the teamsters dinner, and lost the decision. I throught he did very well at the infighting that time but should have gouged old Moosejaw with dirty cracks about the family graft and the hereditary Roosevelt opium fortune. If a man is going to fight rough he shouldn't restrain himself. But Mr. Dewey suffers from propriety, the curse of all superior people, and saved his dirtiest licks.

Both men pretended to discuss Palestine, which will be fateful in the future of this independent western republic and already lays terrible burdens and responsibilities upon us. Israel is our ward and protege. But enslaved Poland, a nation with a history, only recently robbed of her integrity by consent of the United States, is forgotten, as an isolationist might plausible argue that she could be.

Truman and Dewey ignored every fact of this problem, deliberately shunning intelligent discussion because both men knew that "the people" couldn't be trusted to consider it without passion.

The people have made ghastly mistakes before. We have still to learn how grievous this one was, but whoever opposed Mr. Truman must still, in honesty and courage, maintain that the people booted another one.

Hull's Plea to Russia Recalls Story Concerning Poker Ability

Cordell's Hull's plea to Russian leaders to return to sanity reminds us that many Secretaries of State have followed in Hull's footsteps—but none has been able to fill his shoes.

One of Hull's biographers recently sent him the manuscript containing the fact that during the Spanish-American War Capt. Hull's poker playing kept his company broke between pay days

Hull returned the script with one correction. He deleted the word "company" and substituted "regiment."

Item: "Dewey and family arrive at Tucson Airport where 5,000 people greeted them."
Musta been quite a wake.

"Truman to take a vaction," With his luck he oughta spend it at the racetrack.

Before the war Franz Lehar asked Jarmila Novolna to make the motion picture version of his operetta, "Frasquita," Most of the scenes were shot at Ragusa (on the Dalmatian coast) under the supervision of Lehar himself, who also took a brief part in it,

One episode called for a scene out at sea during which the hero makes violent love to Frasquita. Just as the cameras began to click, the waves started to roll and Novotna got seasick.

"What a pity we can't take a picture of this," was Lehar's comment. "This is the way love really makes people look!"

Democrats Celebrate At Dinner

Pledge Good Local Government

Flushed with their election day success, 300 Richland county Democrats last night celebrated with a victory dinner at the Sons of Herman hall.

Ralph Lutz, chairman of the Richland county Democratic executive committee, introduced the candidates who won at the polls Nov. 2. Each of the winning candidates spoke to the gathering and pledged good government with "appointments based on competence rather than party affiliations."

Robert W. Levering, defeated candidate for congressman from the 17th district, also was introduced. Levering, a Mt. Vernon attorney, was defeated by Congressman J. Harry McGregor. However, he won in Richland county, only one of the six counties in the 17th district in which he had a winning margin.

HUSTON SPEAKS

Attorney C. H. Houston told the Democrats the objective of good government was service to the people. He traced the history of the Democratic party, citing the administration of Woodrow Wilson as exemplary.

Other speakers were Marshall Moore, chairman of the county Democratic central committee; William Calhoun, president of the Young Democratic club; George Davis, an active party worker, and Councilman Fred Miller.

Mrs. Dorothy Davis thanked the women in the audience for their efforts in the campaign. Her thanks were expressed on behalf of the Dolly Madison club, the state central committee women, and the Federated Democratic Women of Ohio.

Lutz read a letter from Governor-Elect Frank J. Lausche thanking the Richland county Democrats for their campaign work in his behalf.

The Senior Planning board represents all of the city's senior troops and plans major activities for those troops.

Mrs. J. Frederick Castor served as adviser at the first meeting.

The next meeting will be held at 4 p. m. Dec. 8.

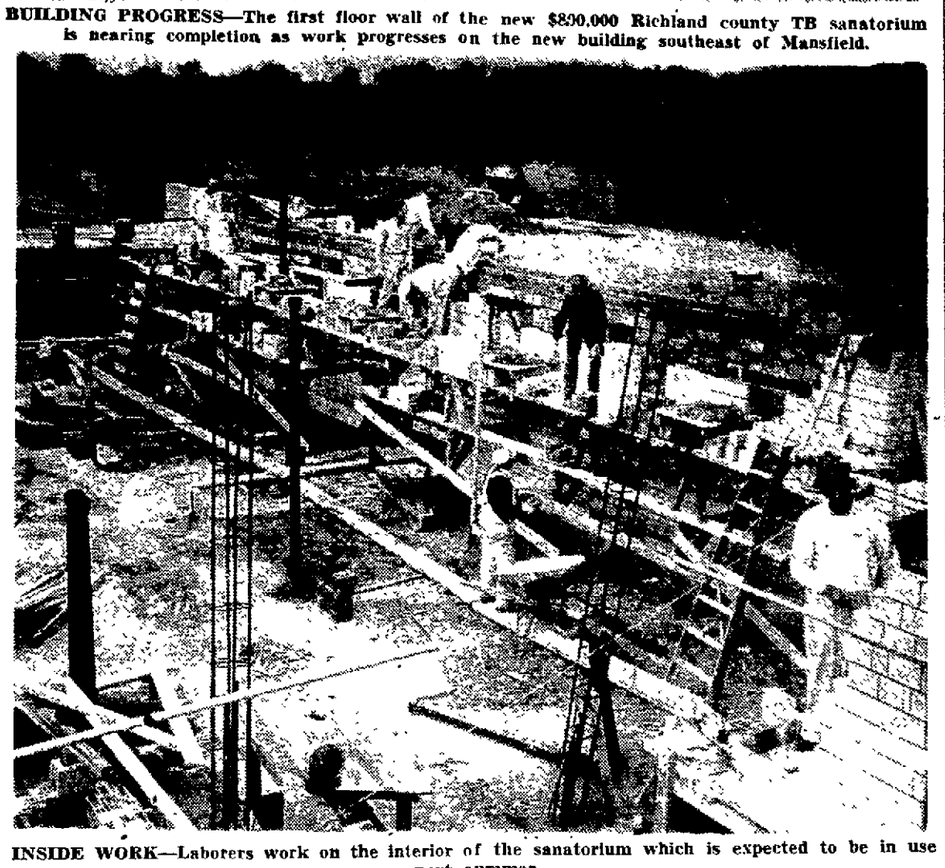
BUILDING PROGRESS—The first floor wall of the new $800,000 Richland county TB sanatorium is nearing completion as work progresses on the new building southeast of Mansfield.



INSIDE WORK—Laborers work on the interior of the sanatorium which is expected to be in use next summer.

★ ★ ★

New TB Sanatorium To Be Done In June

Nearly four-fifths of the first floor of the new Richland county tuberculosis sanatorium has been completed.

The $800,000 building, approved by voters who passed two bond issues to finance it, is being constructed on a gift site on State Route 39 southeast of Mansfield.

Ludwig Zahn, Mansfield contractor, who is handling the general construction work on the project, said the hospital should be completed within 11 months—if the weather is favorable.

Workmen have been busy on the project for about three months, pouring the foundation and part of the walls.

Zahn said he was "well satisfied" with the progress of the work, and intends to keep it moving through the winter months. As things look now, the building will be ready for occupancy in June, Zahn asserted.

HARD TO GET

Zahn said he had a little difficulty in obtaining windows, but he was able to get all other materials, including steel products.

The other contractors presently working on the project are the Malone Plumbing company and Buchman's Electrical Construction company, both Mansfield firms.

The sanatorium garage is two-thirds completed. It will consist of two floors. One floor will have space for six cars, while the other will be for storage.

Of the $800,000 available for the building, $700,000 was obtained through approval of a $300,000 bond issue in 1945 and a $400,000 bond issue in 1947 by Richland county voters.

In addition, the government has made available a grant of $104,566 in federal funds for furnishing the sanatorium. That sum will go for paying one-third of the costs of plumbing and heating, electrical work, elevators, furniture and equipment.

It turned out to be only a false alarm.

Spends $12,000 On Work

Project Called 'Emergency'

Mansfield's 51-year-old YMCA is in the initial phases of a $12,000 face-lifting.

Described by Maurice Taylor, "Y" secretary, as an "emergency repair program," the touching-up is designed to put the old building in a safe, operating condition for the next few years.

Constructed in 1897, the building at 45 Park avenue west hasn't had any appreciable repairs since 1928. At the time of the stock market crash in 1929, plans were under way to build a new YMCA and more than $200,000 was pledged for this purpose. Because of the dire economic conditions of that time, the plans for a new building were dropped and the "Y" was even forced to close.

Due to the efforts of the YMCA Men's club, now the Hermit club, the YMCA was re-opened in 1931. Previous to its closing the building had a dormitory but on reopening the dorm was discontinued, leaving the "Y" without any living quarters.

INSTALL RIFLE RANGE

The present repair program will include improved lighting facilities, installation of new equipment, a 12-lane rifle range, repair of mechanical and heating equipment and general interior decorating.

The necessary repair funds were raised by donations. At a YMCA board meeting last year, G. W. Stephens, president of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, promised that he would personally raise two dollars for every dollar contributed by other sources. Stephens made good on his promise and was responsible for more than $8,000 of the $12,000 fund.

In conjunction with the expanding facilities program, the "Y" is increasing its social program and staff to meet the demands of a greatly increased membership, Taylor said.

Woman Dies Of Exposure

MILLERSBURG—A rural postman today prompted an investigation which led to the discovery of the body of an elderly woman in the home where she lived alone. She had been dead four or five days in her home a mile west of here.

Dr. A. J. Earney, Holmes county coroner, reported the woman, Mrs. Emma White, around 80 years of age, died from exposure and a fractured hip. There was evidence the victim attempted to reach the phone to summon aid as a curtain and blind were torn down and a davenport cushion was found on the dining room floor near the body and the phone.

DeSylvia Gindlesberger, the rural route letter carrier, had found two other bodies along his route through previous observations. He told Postmaster Joe A. Anderson of the mail accumulation at the White letter box. The discovery was made by Sheriff Wayne D. Stratton and Paul Anderson, assistant postmaster, as they investigated.

The body was removed to the Elliott funeral home here pending arrangements. Mrs. White was the widow of Rev. S. J. White, who died several years ago.

Miss Charvat to Join Hospital Staff Jan. 2 as Dietitian

General hospital will have a full-time dietitian on Jan. 2 wen Miss Marian C. Charvat of Steubenville takes over her duties here.

Miss Charvat will come to General hospital from the Ohio Valley Hospital at Steubenville, where she is therapeutic dietitian and assistant to the chief dietitian. She will teach student nurses in the theory of proper diet and direct the kitchen administration at the hospital.

At the present time Mrs. Barney Ford works only part time at the hospital as dietitian and an instructor in dietetics for student nurses must be brought in from out of the city.

Miss Charvat has a background of extensive training. She attended Wooster college for a year and a half, took special training at Ohio State university where she received her BS degree and her student experience work at the Starling-Loving hospital in Columbus.

Later, she completed her student experience work at Mt. Sinai hospital in Philadelphia under Miss Lumille Refshauge, former educational director of the American Dietetic association.

In addition to her hospital connections, Miss Charvat is a member of the Business and Professional Women's club of Steubenville, in which she has served as member of the health committee. She is a member of the Junior Women's club, the Jefferson County Home Economics club and is the delegate for the Ohio Dietetics association and a member of its public relations committee.

Sun Boosts Mercury

The mercury climbed throughout the state today, promising Mansfielders another respite from the onslaught of wintry blasts.

After a brief session of snow flurries and biting cold yesterday, Mansfield basked in bright sunshine and rising temperatures as the mercury climbed into the 50's by noon.

Weathermen today changed their tune about the oncoming cold. There is little likelihood of cold weather until Saturday now, they said.

Spinach Row Now Before ICC Unit

Farmers Fight Manufacturers

WASHINGTON, — (UP) Here's the question: Is spinach a vegetable or a manufactured product?

In the argument, the Interstate Commerce commission is lined up against the agriculture department.

The agriculture people are taking sides with the man in overalls who plants and harvests things like spinach. They take the position that a farm commodity is—well, anything grown on the farm. They list such things as vegetables, grains, fruit, livestock, cotton, etc. bees and shellfish even. And if the farmer grows 'em, by golly, the department contends, he has a right to haul same to market.

The ICC doesn't dispute, exactly, what a commodity is. But it does claim that if the farmer does any monkeying around with a thing that grows—like polishing an apple or washing a crate of spinach—he can't haul it in interstate commerce without a contract. Or he has to get somebody else to do it, because then the apple and the spinach become manufactured products.

A hearing on the complicated matter is going on in the commerce building before ICC Examiner C. Brooks Evans.

The whole controversy started last December when Norman E Harwood of Detroit asked the ICC for a permit that would let him operate as a contract trucker of fresh and frozen fruits and vegetables between points in Michigan, Ohio Indiana and Illinois.

One of the commodities he wanted to carry was spinach, which he and his neighbors tidied up a bit by washing and packaging in cellophane before shipping A public service, Mr. Harwood told the commission.

The washing and packing business, the ICC ruled, made the spinach and peas and peaches manufactured goods—like canned beans and baby food. The trucker would have to have the kind of a carrier contract required for the latter goods.

Well, that was the beginning The hue and cry from the farmer was loud and long The rebuttal from the commercial shippers, who stood to pick up an extra sou here and there, was just as loud and just as long

THIS WRECKED PLANTATION, near Yazoo City Miss., was in the path of "sneak," hard-hitting tornadoes that cut a crazy-quilt pattern across Georgia, Mississippi, Kentucky and Louisiana. Seven persons were killed and 21 others were injured in the Yazoo county area. Heavy rains accompanied the twisters and Red Cross crews were struggling through mud to perform rescue and rehabilitation work.—(International Soundphoto)

Police Fail to Find Elusive Nazi, Reporter Does the Job

HAMBURG — (U.P.) — Hjolmor Schacht, German financial wizard sought for retrial on a warrant charging him with Nazi activities, was located by a United Press reporter yesterday in the town of Speensen, 20 miles south of here.

The warrant was issued for the former president of the Nazi Reichsbank last Friday when the Wuerttemberg-Baden denazification ministry cancelled a verdict of an appeal court exonerating Schacht of the Nazi taint.

Iow living alone and modestly in a small cottage, Schacht told the reporter:

"I am most astonished to hear now that the police again are looking for me and that again I am to go to jail."

Schacht, who was cleared of war crimes charges at Nuernberg, denied he was in hiding.

"But I must admit that I have tried to keep out of the way for awhile," he said

Distribute 13,000 Pounds of Potatoes

A total of 130 100-lb bags of potatoes were delivered yesterday to county schools and institutions. The potatoes, made available by the Surplus Commodities administration, were hauled from Wooster by county trucks.

County Supt. of Schools Boyd Robinson said the bags of potatoes were distributed this way: Bellville, Butler and Lexington schools, nine each; Lucas, Shiloh and Shelby, seven each; Madison, 15; Springfield, 13; Union, five; Mansfield schools, 37; Children's Home, four, County Home, six and TB sanatorium, two.

Jones Food Market sells only the best. This is why each piece of meat sold must be government inspected. Only by government inspection are you sure any piece of meat comes from disease free animals. It also must be government graded because only government experts can grade meat properly. The so-called Grades AA, A, etc., are not government grades. The recognized government grades are U. S. Choice, U. S. Good, U. S. Commercial, U. S. Utility. These grades are stamped on each piece of meat you buy. Ask to see this stamp. Be sure the initials U. S. are clearly shown as only the government may use these letters.

By CHARLEY STINE

TONY TADDEO, Senior high footballer . . . a second-stringer, who sees a lot of service as replacement for Right Guard Howie Tipper. . . . Is also Tipper's understudy as place-kicker, although he has had only two opportunities to boot at the crossbar. . . . In the Sandusky game, Tipper injured his knee and Taddeo booted the last two to get a 1.000 average for the season thus far. . . . A serious, dark-eyed senior, Tony does not have the usual athlete's desire to be a pro footballer or a coach. . . .

TADDEO

He wants to become an engineer first of all, then any sports he has time for is fine. . . . Says he will attend Miami university, although he would like Northwestern or Purdue if he can get the money. . . . Would probably play football at Miami, but thinks his five-eight, 155 pounds is too small for the bigger schools. . . . Already has one football letter, one in reserve basketball and two in golf. . . . The latter is the sport at which he has had the most success, not losing a match last year. . . . Thinks the most fun in high school golf is yet to come. . . . With all of last year's team back and young Jimmy Hager coming up, Tony says he thinks Senior high should take the state championship next spring. . . . He himself had an 86.3 average last year. . . . Learned much of his golf and some football from his brother, Angelo. . . . Angelo was a two-letter football man at Senior high and was captain in 1945, his senior year.

White Sox Make Deal With Tigers

CINCINNATI — (UP) — The Chicago White Sox "youth program" under new General Manager Frank C. Lane was underway today with the acquisition of pitcher Bill Pierce from the Detroit Tigers in exchange for catcher Aaron Robinson.

Lane, who called young Pierce "an outstanding pitcher," said his club now is trying to acquire a good outfielder and a good infielder, involving deals with the Cleveland Indians and the New York Yankees.

Grade School Pigskin Title Tilt Postponed

The Mansfield grade school touch football championship contest between Hedges and Bowman will be played Monday at 4 p. m. at Stadium field.

Wet grounds caused postponement of the game yesterday. Both teams are undefeated in four games.

Senior High Has Big Defensive Problem

Hamilton 11 Makes 42.6 Points Tilt

The big problem facing the Senior high school football team this week is an adequate defense for Hamilton's bruising attack.

Tyger grid followers feel sure their favorites can score against the Big Blue, but whether they can score enough to beat Hamilton is the question. Senior high's leather luggers have amassed 2,318 yards on the ground, an average of 8.6 a carry. They have scored on 20 of 277 carries.

Hamilton's ground-gaining figures are not available but the Big Blue is Ohio's most potent point-production eleven. Coach Chuck Thackara's team has rolled up 341 points, an average of 42.6 per game in eight winning efforts.

NEAR RUINATION

Last year, too, Hamilton was a tough offensive outfit. However, the hard-running Bengal forwards almost ruined the Big Blue ground eating department. Except for one 80-yard sprint by Harry Phillips, Hamilton could gain only 83 yards all night against the Tygers.

The Big Blue backs were tossed for 41 yards in losses and made only two running first downs. Mansfield made eight first downs to six for the Hamilton club which won, 19 to 7. Blocked punts led to two Hamilton tallies.

Jim "Boxcar" Bailey, the great Blue running back, carried nine times and was tossed for losses on five occasions. On the other four trips he made only 13 yards, scoring one touchdown from the one.

CONSTANT

Yard-eating leaders on the Bengal squad remained constant last week.

A. C. Jenkins is still the No. 1 mail carrier with 704 yards in 87 carries. However, Tom Tucker, 10.4; Capt. Joe Miller, 10.2 and Lou Gregorio, 9.1 all have better averages.

Gregorio made the biggest strides last week with 89 yards in three tries against Marion Harding Jenkins went under 118 yards for the first time in five games when he picked up only 68.

Here's a Couple Of Racing Plugs

SALEM, N. H. —(UP)— A Kentucky plowhorse and a New Hampshire hayburner will match strides at Rockingham Park today in the richest contest of its kind—a $1,000 match race for plugs.

Up from the blue grass region of Kentucky is Superflier, a plowhorse on the Cynthiana, Ky., farm of Prentice Burgan. He will try to outlumber Big Red, who ordinarily hauls wood for his 17-year-old owner, Milton Scully of Salem Center.

Nineteen Players Picked In Draft By Major Loops

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Nineteen minor league players are in baseball's big show now as a result of the annual draft.

Big league officials, ignoring some 270 bonus players, picked the 19 from more than 5,400 possible draftees in 58 leagues, handing out $182,500 for the assorted talent.

The selections, made yesterday under the supervision of Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler, included 16 players from triple-A circuits—five from each the International, Pacific Coast and American association—two from the double-A Southern association and two from the double-A Texas league.

The American league Chicago White Sox, who had second choice after the National league Chicago club, handed over the biggest chunk of cash. They spent $30,000 for a pitcher, catcher and infielder.

Three National league clubs, New York, Pittsburgh and Brooklyn, and two from the American, New York and Boston, put in no bids.

The price tag on AAA players was $10,000 and the AA stars went for $7,500.

The bonus players, who were good enough to get more than $6,000 for signing contracts last year, failed to attract any buyers.

Here are the draftees:

Players Drafted were:
CHICAGO CUBS—Dwain Sloat, southpaw, pitcher from St Paul.
CHICAGO WHITE SOX—Matt Surkont pitcher from Rochester Gene Markland infielder, from Milwaukee, and Donald Wheeler catcher from Minneapolis.
CINCINNATI—Homer (Dixie) Howell catcher from San Francisco, and John S Premoga, jr catcher, from Jersey City
WASHINGTON—John Simmons, outfielder from Montreal
PHILADELPHIA PHILLIES — Robert Blattner infielder, from Jersey City, and Ken Silvestri, catcher, from Newark
ST LOUIS BROWNS—Bob Malloy, pitcher from Indianapolis and Irving Medlinger pitcher from Birmingham.
DETROIT—Marvin Grissom, pitcher, from Sacramento
PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS—Thomas Davis infielder from Hollywood and James A Wilson pitcher from Baltimore
ST LOUIS CARDINALS—Eddie Sauer outfielder, from Los Angeles.
BOSTON BRAVES—Donald Thompson, outfielder from Columbus, and Charley [illegible] outfielder, from Nashville
CLEVELAND—Herman Reich, first baseman, from Portland Ore

LONDON —(UP)— Negotiations were underway today for a world flyweight title match in Honolulu, Jan. 25 between champion Rinty Monaghan of Ireland and scrappy little Dadoo Marino of Hawaii.

Californians Want to See Army-Navy

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK—(INS)—Discreet but persistent west coast pressure was being exerted today to have the annual Army-Navy football game transferred to California for a single showing—possible next year at Los Angeles' memorial coliseum.

The shift, per se, could only be undertaken at a time that doesn't conflict with Army-Navy commitments at the Municipal Stadium, Philadelphia. These, however, expire—perhaps rather significantly—with this year's game.

NO ASSURANCES

It may or may not be significant, too, that recent negotiations, looking toward a 10-year renewal of the Philadelphia pact, were allowed recently take an adjournment without definite assurances from the two academies.

The omission, however, may have been meaningless, since quasi-official reaction thus far to the California overtures is said to have been equally austere and unresponsive.

Meanwhile, it was expected that Army resistance might be worn down gradually by two West Point treks to the land of milk, honey and drive-in victuals—the first to Palo Alto within a year and the other to southern California within two.

As usual, Navy resistance seemingly isn't accepted as more than a nominal. But that's only a matter of personal psychology.

Last Minute Scoring Pass Wins Contest

A touchdown pass with 45 seconds to go gave the East Mansfield junior high team a 6-0 victory over the combined Lincoln Heights - Woodville eleven last night at Madison field.

After the two teams had battled in midfield through most of the game, East Mansfield took advantage of an opposition fumble to score its winning marker. A Lincoln Heights-Woodville man let the ball slip away on his own 40 with two minutes to go to set up the touchdown

FAILS THROUGH LINE

East Mansfield failed to gain through the line and quarterback Tim Miller decided to take to the air. He hit Ronnie Barr on the 15 and Barr sprinted the remaining distance to win the game.

East Mansfield held the edge throughout the game but the Woodville - Lincoln Heights line was tough to crack Three times in the third quarter, Woodville-Lincoln Heights held for downs inside the one-yard line. On one occasion East Mansfield had second down with less than a foot to go but failed to score.

An estimated crowd of 900 persons saw the game. Combined with pre-game ticket sales, the coffers of the schools were swelled about $350, all of which will go for the purchase of athletic equipment.

Ohio Sportsman's Club Shooters To Celebrate Sunday

Members and guests of the Ohio Sportsman's Gun club will celebrate the organization's first anniversary in a noisy fashion Sunday, Chet Beer, president, announced today.

The group has scheduled a turkey and ham shoot to be held at the club range, west of Mansfield three miles on route 30-N.

Starting time has been set for 10 a. m., and a crowd of approximately 1,000 gun and trapshooting enthusiasts is expected to attend.

Ten target events have been arranged, and there will be still targets for varied participation. Both amateur and participation squads are slated to compete.

Lunch, cold drinks, and plenty of shells will be on hand and the public has been invited to attend.

Oldsters Fete Manager Billy

KENTON — (AP) — Nostalgic baseball tales of yesteryear flowed freely from the game's old timers attending the seventh annual dinner honoring Billy Southworth here last night.

The Elks lodge rounded up some turkeys for their traditional tribute to the man who has won four National league pennants, the latest this year with the Boston Braves.

The reason the Elks give it to him every year is that he started his baseball career here back in 1911. He was a shortstop then for the Kenton Reds of the Ohio State league.

Madison Rams Meet Undefeated Bucyrus

Madison, in the doldrums of a bad slump, will meet a Bucyrus team which is keyed the highest of any in the history of the school Friday night at Bucyrus.

The Redmen, fresh from clinching their first Northern Ohio league championship, will spare no efforts to complete their first undefeated season. Bucyrus has won seven games and tied one, and townsmen have already planned victory celebrations for the completion of the season.

In the Kibler twins, Bill and Dick, Bucyrus boasts of the best one-two punch in the NOL and possibly in the area. Both are fine running halfbacks, and both can throw and receive passes.

Bill, the orthodox member of the football-playing family, is the NOL scoring champion and has racked up 18 touchdowns in overall competition. Dick confines his talents more to left-handed passing but can also run with the pigskin.

SEVEN MEN BACK

Seven men who started in the 20-6 lacing Bucyrus took from Madison last year will be back for revenge. Still in the lineup are Ends Walter Light and Dick Johns, Guard Tom Teynor, Center Bill Huggins, Fullback Bob Dutcher and the Kiblers. Dutcher made the only Bucyrus touchdown in the game played in the rain at Ram field.

Madison starters in that game who are still around are only four, all linemen. The entire right side of the line—End Jim Brightbill, Tackle Don Morris, Guard Norm Hughes, and Center Jim Gatton —is still intact.

Brown Guns For 150th Win

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Paul Brown, coach of the defending champion Cleveland Browns, will be gunning for victory No. 150 Sunday when the All-American conference champs tangle with the San Francisco 49ers.

Brown, who has led teams into 178 contests, has been coaching football for 17 years. He began at Massillon high school, and then moved to Ohio State, Great Lakes and Cleveland

"Well," Brown stated yesterday when it was mentioned that No. 150 was next, "I never give such items much thought. When the last game is played in a season, that ends it."

Indian Draftee Makes Fine Mark

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Here's the way Herman Reich, the Cleveland Indians' new draftee, did last year with Portland:

He batted .324, knocked in 100 runs, scored 93 and slammed 19 homers in 187 games In his five year service with Portland he alternated between first base and the outfield. He throws right handed.

Ohio Staters Stage Light Drill For Illini

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The Ohio State university Buckeyes plan to put in a short holiday football practice session today to perfect their plans for meeting Illinois at Champaign Saturday.

Coach Wesley Fesler said he didn't expect to keep the boys working for more than an hour. They put in only an hour and 20 minutes yesterday, working mainly on pass problems on both sides of the line.

The freshman team as usual supplied the opposition, patterned after the things the Illinois team is supposed to do under the given circumstances.

Fullback Joe Whisler of Willard, hurt somewhat in last Saturday's game against the Pittsburgh Panthers, was expected to be in shape to make the trip to Champaign, although he took no part in yesterday's drill.

Neither did Quarterback Pete Perini of New Village, N. J., nor End Charlie Gilbert of Columbus. Perini may be able to go along but probably won't play too much, Fesler indicated, and the odds are against Gilbert getting into the game.

Tyger-Tiger 'Sub' Teams Meet Again

Another Mansfield-Massillon preview of things to come is scheduled Saturday morning when the Tyger Cubs play the Washington high sophomores at Massillon.

It will be the second meeting of the two clubs. Here two weeks ago, the Tygers took an early lead but faded in the late stages and a 13-to-13 deadlock resulted. The Tygers swamped the Bucyrus reserves in their only other contest.

The Mansfield squad of 22 players will leave at 7:30 a. m. Saturday morning in private cars. The game is scheduled for 10 a. m. Coach Vern Hoffman will have charge of the squad, assisted by Mike Byelene.

STARTING LINEUP

In all except two cases, the Bengal starting lineup has been determined. Guard starters lie between Richard Kent, 136; Ronnie Williams, 160, and Phil Lindsay, 170. Either Walter Maurer, 153, or Gene Fidler, 172, will start at center.

The other starters are: ends, Dave Guy, 155, and Esker Jordan, 185; tackles, John Ernsberger, 156, and Jack Wise, 160; backs, Charlie Marchant, 143; Clarence Bailey, 134; Bob Ward, 152, and John Petty, 140.

Art Hartig, 154, will sub at quarterback and will handle the Cub punting.

Five Major College Grid Teams Undefeated

Michigan 11 Lone Outfit Sure of Win

By JOHN GRIFFIN

NEW YORK—(UP)—With their teeth still rattling from a bombardment of upsets last week end, the five remaining candidates for the national football championship were looking forward to more woe Saturday.

A tidal wave of surprises without parallel this season swamped the ranks of the hopeful and, when the flood had receded, only Army, Notre Dame, Michigan, California, and Clemson were left high and dry.

Of the five only Michigan, a 35-0 winner of Navy, can expect easy going again this week when it meets Indiana, one of the weaker Big Nine teams. On the other hand, Notre Dame, which trounced Indiana, 42-6, faces what may be its toughest game of the year in Northwestern, the team likely to play in the Rose Bowl.

ARMY MEETS PENN

Army, which breezed over Stanford, 43-0 ,will meet Pennsylvania, the major upset victim of the past week end when it fell out of the unbeaten ranks at the hands of Penn State, 13-0. California, with a 4-0 record in the Pacific Coast conference after slugging UCLA, 28 to 13, takes on Washington State, owner of a 4-2-1 record.

Clemson places its Southern conference hopes on the line when it tries to follow up a 41-to-0 win over Furman by beating Wake Forest. But Wake Forest figures to be tough off its 4-1 record in the conference.

In the Ivy league: Cornell (3-0) and Dartmouth (3-1) meet in the headline clash, with Yale-Princeton an interesting sidelight having less bearing on the loop standings.

HEAVILY FAVORED

In the Southeastern conference: Georgia, unbeaten in conference competition, will be heavily favored over Auburn, which has lost five, won nine in the league. Georgia Tech, bounced from the lead when it was upset by Tennessee, 13 to 6, will attempt to get back on the victory trail against Alabama, which has won only one of five loop games.

Mississippi, which owns a 4-1 record like Georgia Tech's, will meet the same tartar in Tennessee. Tulane, also 4-1, will be out of the league against Baylor.

In the Big Nine: Michigan and Indiana the big clash of the day, of course, while Northwestern hopes for prestige in its outside game against Notre Dame. Another leading intra-conference tilt sends Minnesota, with a 3-2 record and still hopeful of sneaking in as the Rose Bowl representative, against Iowa, with a 2-3 record. Also on the bill is the Illinois-Ohio State battle.

In the Big Six: Utah, unbeaten in four games in the conference, will be outside for a game with Oregon State. Colorado A. & M. (3-1) will meet Brigham Young (0-2) and Utah State (2-1) faces Denver (0-2) in leading loop games.

LITTLE TO FEAR

In the Big Seven: League-leading Kansas, unbeaten in three conference games, seemingly had little to fear from Kansas State, a five-time loser. Oklahoma, also unbeaten in three loop games, meets Nebraska (2-2), while Missouri, victim of a horrendous 41-7 upset at the hands of Oklahoma, will try a comeback against Colorado.

In the Southwest conference: Southern Methodist sends Doak Walker against Arkansas and figured to stay unbeaten in the loop. The loop's next best is Texas (3-1) against Texas Christian (1-2).

In the Pacific Coast conference: games and rivaling California for the Rose Bowl bid meets UCLA. A sidelight is Southern California (2-2) against Washington (1-4).

Lead in the Dominion Women's leagle went to Nellie Bonecutter with 134-131-166—431. Trailing were: June Aumend 121-146-153—420; Gladys Indorf, 152-120-144—416 and Edna Bricker, 130-177-108—415.

Butler Bulldogs In First County Basketball Contest

Butler's Bulldogs will claim the honor of staging Richland county's first basketball game of the season Friday night when they are host to Chester high school.

Butler, boasting only two lettermen from last year's team which won 11 of 14 county league games, will play two tilts before opening league play. The monogram winners, Tod Brokaw and Dick Titlow, will be used by Coach Vernon Chaney as post men in his double pivot offense.

Brokaw and Titlow neither were regulars last year but saw considerable service as substitutes. At five feet eleven, the two are the tallest boys on the squad. Lack of height may be made up by speed, however.

WILL WAIT AWHILE

Chaney said he will not pick the other three starters until shortly before game time. Seven boys are still battling for the berth—Ivan Hollar, Don Strong, Eldon Koopert, Junior Beal, Charles Coon, Harold Workman and David Weber. Hollar, Strong and Koopert are the only seniors on the team, leaving Chaney with the opportunity of starting an entire junior quintet if he so desires.

Thirty-three candidates are out for the Butler squad and many of them are showing promises, particularly the ten freshmen. Charles Barnard and Bill Bagley are pushing for varsity posts, while Don Kirkpatrick will un-

Muscato Kayoes New York Shamus

AKRON — (INS) — Phil Muscato of Buffalo today held a knockout victory over New York's Shamus O'Brien.

O'Brien, who weighed in at 182½, was dropped by a right cross to the jaw after two minutes and 25 seconds of the eighth round of their scheduled 10-rounder last night at Akron's armory.

Muscato, 188 pounds, floored his opponent in the seventh round after keeping him on the run through earlier rounds.

Eight Quints Enter Junior Church Loop

Final arrangements have been completed for the opening of the junior church basketball league Saturday, Nov. 27, John Fike, physical director of the YMCA, announced today.

Fike said practice times had been set up for all teams on the 'Y' court and Nov. 17 set as the deadline for entry fees and player contracts. Eight teams have officially entered the loop.

This year for the first time a rotating trophy will be presented to the league champion. The trophy will become the property of any church winning it for three straight years. A split-season schedule will be played with the champion being determined by a playiff game between the final half and second half champions.

FOUR EACH WEEK

Four league games will be played every Saturday afternoon. Churches in the loop are: Grace Gospel, St. John's, First Presbyterian, First Christian, First Methodist, Central Methodist, St. Paul's and Park Avenue Baptist.

Robert Lantz, manager of Park Avenue Baptist, has been elected president of the league, and Paul Houston, First Methodist, vice-president.

Practice periods for the two Saturdays before the opening of the season were listed as follows: 1 p. m., St. John's; 1:45, Grace Gospel; 2:30 Central Methodist; 3:15, First Presbyterian; 4:00 First Christian; 4:45, Park Avenue Baptist; 5:30, First Methodist. A practice period is open at 12:15.

Shelby Junior Varsity Takes Ashland, 15-0

SHELBY — The Shelby J. V.'s climaxed their season last night with a 15-0 win over the Ashland J. V.'s here at Skiles field.

The Junior Whippets' aerial offensive proved too much for the A's. Two passes from Walter Will to Jim Mott, one for 25 yards and the other for 47 yards, spelled defeat for the Orange clad eleven.

Late in the fourth quarter Shelby again tallied when a bad pass from the center was recovered by the A's in their own end zone and Scott was immediately tackled to give Shelby two points.

The Junior A's threatened early in the third quarter when Leonard and Roland Scott got off for some beautiful runs. However the attack faltered when it reached the fifteen-yard line and Shelby drove the ball out of danger.

Messmore Bags Big 683 In City A Loop; Englehorn, LeMunyon, Henrich Follow

Messmore, a top-notch bowler who had been having trouble making the pins fall, rapped out a new season series record in the City A league. Rolling with Bissman's, Messmore put together three straight games over the 200 mark for a 683 series.

He started out modestly enough with a 200 score, got better as he went along, 215, and then really turned on the heat coming down to the wire. His final 268 was high for the night and one of the best of the year.

ENGLEHORN NO. 2

Carl Englehorn of Mitsch's Corners was No. 2 among the half-dozen A leaguers who crossed the 600 stripe. He blasted a 247 first game and 244 second but lost the touch completely to fall to a 137 finale, and 628 total. Hal LeMunyon of 36 Bar had 627 on games of 178, 215 and 234, and Ed Henrich of Ace Cab seored 225-183-216—624.

ACE CABS FIRST

Ace Cabs won two out of three games from the Eagles to maintain its first-place advantage over a quartet of teams tied for second. Mid-Ohio Amusement knocked Dr. Pepper out of first place tie by beating it three straight games. Liederkranz took the measure of Deschner Cabs in the only other sweep.

Mitsch's racked up the best team scores of the night, a 2,918 total and a 1,050 single game.

Ashland Eagles Swoop Down On Hiram College Terriors

ASHLAND—The Ashland college Eagles play host to the Terriors of Hiram college here Saturday afternoon in Redwood stadium in an attempt to at least tie Ashland's all-time football record.

Ashland will be shooting at a mark set by the 1929 Eagle team that won six contests while losing only one. So far this season, Ashland has won five and tied two games. Its only loss was to undefeated Heidelberg.

Hiram has only been able to muster out one victory so far this season. That was a 26-to-14 victory over Canterbury (Ind.) last week. Previous to that it had lost four straight after tying Kenyon in the seasons opener.

Main hope of Ashland's attempt to overthrow a team that unmercifully trounced them last season, 31 to 0 at Hiram, is Warren Thompson, former Cuyahoga Falls back who is in his junior year at Ashland. The fleet-footed leading Eagle ground gainer has picked up a total of 418 yards so far for the Eagles this year and a seven-yard rushing average per try. He averaged 11.3 yards in 15 rushing attempts last Saturday as the Eagles felled Bluffton, 25 to 6. Thompson has scored three touchdowns, including one on a 65-yard run Saturday.

Freshman Herb Hart, former Shelby ace, remains the leading Eagle scorer with 25 points to his credit. He has averaged 6.3 yards in 37 rushing attempts this year.

Hogan Chosen 'Best Golfer' In PGA Poll

CHICAGO — (UP) — Bantam Ben Hogan, who has finished in the money in every tournament he has entered this year, today added another title to his long list of honors as the Professional Golfers' association's "golfer of the year."

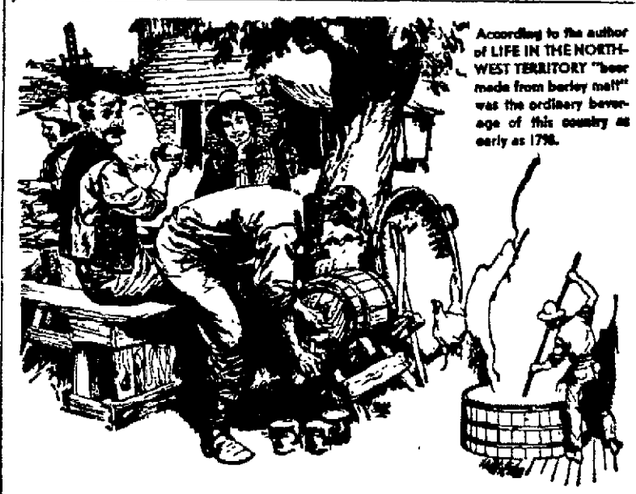
Lloyd Mangrum, runner-up to Hogan in official PGA money winnings this year, also ran second to him in the poll. The only other golfers even to receive mention in the voting were young Skip Alexander and colorful Jimmy Demaret.

WIN 9 OF 12

Hogan, who makes his home in Hershey, Pa., has won nine of twelve tournaments since May 19. In two of them he finished in a tie for second. In addition, he became the first golfer ever to win the PGA championship tournament, the western open and the national open in one year and his $32,112 in official PGA money winnings leads the field.

His average of 69.31 strokes for 76 rounds of tournament competition makes him the top contender for the Vardon trophy. And he also is well ahead of all other golfers in Ryder cup squad points with 916.

KENT—(AP)—William R. Hoover, 34-year-old Ohio State graduate, has been named Kent State university swimming coach.



According to the author of LIFE IN THE NORTHWEST TERRITORY "beer made from barley malt" was the ordinary beverage of this country as early as 1798.

"The Beverage of the Country"

BEER is still the favorite. Barley malt is still the basic part . . . but it is only one of the many factors that have made Wiedemann's first in quality, first in flavor for four generations. Always call for Wiedemann's Fine Beer. Enjoy it at your tavern and at home. The Wiedemann label is your protection.
